

REPUBLICANS SCORE THE DEMOCRATS FOR THEIR TRUST POLICY

Republican Senators De- nounce "Gentle" Way of Handling Trust Question

BOOSTING THE STOCKS

Sen. Bristow Asserts Corpora- tion Stocks are Rising Under Present Trust Policy

PRESENT RURAL CREDIT BILLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—"Benevolent sunshine" enhancing the stock of corporations, was a characteristic applied to the trust policy
by Republicans today during debate in the senate. The policy of amicable agreements with accused corporations also was criticized by minority speakers.

While hearings on the pending
anti-trust bills were under way before the house judiciary committee, Senator Martine, of New Jersey, interjected into a senate discussion on agriculture extension the announcement that there existed in the United States an oat meal trust. Senator Cummins of Iowa asked the New Jersey senator if any proceedings were pending to punish the officers of the combine.

"I do not know whether there are any immediate steps being taken to prosecute the oat meal trust," Senator Martine replied, "but I do know it is part of the policy of the Democratic party to go for the trusts and we will go for them, dealing with them fairly, honestly and justly, but not tenderly nor kindly."

"I hope it is the plan of the Democratic party to destroy monopoly," Senator Cummins rejoined, "but I must confess the plan is being carried out with a deliberateness that some times discourages me."

"I hope we shall speedily reach the oat meal trust, where it can be dealt with. We are going very slowly, however, and I have no great confidence in the effort to readjust industrial conditions in the administrative offices of the government."

One Way To Punish Violator.

"There is but one way to punish
a man for having violated the law and that is to bring him before the bar of a court and finding him guilty punish him. I have not much faith in these preliminary negotiations and these quiet adjustments that seem to have been favored not only in a former administration but in this one
as well."

Senator McCumber said all he could learn of the Democratic trust
policy was from the newspapers which announced that the trusts were to be "gone after" but that the party
"is dealing gently, going very quietly and telling the trusts to have no fear of being hurt."

While this gentle process of dealing with trusts is being inaugurated," remarked Senator Bristow, of Kansas, "the stock of these corporations is continually rising under this beneficent sunshine of the present trust policy."

Complete Amendments.

Members of the senate inter-state commerce committee took up informally the pending inter-state
trade commission bill and completed amendments, the chief of which would guard from publicity the information required from corporations
relating to trade secrets list of customers and such data. Other amendments enlarging the scope of the commission are to be proposed later.

Representative Adamson, chairman of the house inter-state commerce committee talked with President Wilson regarding the capitalization and trade commission bills. Mr. Adamson told the president of the committee's plans for hearings which are in accord with the president's views that all the light possible should be gained by the congressional committees in the formulation of the antitrust program.

The judiciary committee's hearings will be resumed with Representative Stanley of Kentucky, continuing his explanation of his anti-trust bills.

Representative Sims of Tennessee
who will be active in the work of framing the proposed capitalization
bill has a measure now on the committee docket which will figure very materially in the discussion. It would make it unlawful for a railroad to issue capital stock, stock certificates, bonds or any other evidence of indebtedness except with the approval of the inter-state commerce commission for extension and improvement of its lines and terminals and equipment and other necessary purposes.

Rural Credits Bill Introduced.

Administration rural credit bills were introduced simultaneously in the senate and house today by Senator Fletcher of Florida and Representative Moss of Indiana members of the commission President Wilson
sent abroad last summer to study
the foreign systems. Bills for short-term loans will be introduced later.

MARRIAGES IN COOK COUNTY MAY BE ILLEGAL

CEREMONIES PERFORMED BY JUSTICE OF THE PEACE MAY BE RULED OUT

Supreme Court Ruling Is Expected to Settle Question of Justices' Right to Perform Ceremony in Cook County—Meanwhile Many Couples
Are Re-marrying.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—A supreme court ruling which will determine whether the thousands of marriages performed in Chicago by justices of the peace are legal is expected to result from the arrest today of Edmund R. Polk, justice of the peace
at Oak Park.

Polk is charged with having illegally performed the marriage ceremony for Julius Gillison, aged 14 and Fred Drew. He obtained his release on bond after a writ of habeas corpus had been refused. Polk maintained offices in a building opposite the city hall where licenses to wed are issued. When Drew was arrested he charged that attaches of the license office directed him to Polk's office.

The contention of the Chicago authorities is that the municipal corporation has no special authority to perform marriages of any legal authority in the city of Chicago. The justices contend that being state officers
their right includes Cook county.

There has been more than 50, 000 marriage licenses issued each year since the passage of the municipal court act and city hall attaches estimated today that more than sixty per cent of these marriages had been performed by justices of the peace.

Nearly all of those who came from outside the city to be married were directed by minor city officials to the justices. If the position of the Chicago officials is upheld it is likely
all these marriages will be considered illegal. Since the question was raised a week ago by the arrest of Drew hundreds of couples married by justices have presented themselves to be remarried.

Polk indicated that he intended to make a test of his case by notifying detectives sent to arrest him that they had no right to take him into custody.

RAIN, SLEET AND SNOW IN WESTERN ILLINOIS

TEMPERATURE DROPS 45 DEGREES IN 12 HOURS ALONG MISSISSIPPI

Drop in Mercury at Points More Inland Was Reported 35 Degrees—Snow Six Inches Deep at Springfield, Mo., and is Still Falling—Trains Delayed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 29.—Rain, sleet and snow accompanied a severe cold wave which descended on Eastern Missouri and Western Illinois tonight. The temperatures dropped 45 degrees in twelve hours along either bank of the Mississippi river
and thirty five degrees at points more inland.

At Springfield, Mo., the snow was six inches deep early in the evening
and was still falling.

Telephone, telegraph and street car service was demoralized there and trains both inbound and outbound were delayed several hours.

It St. Louis there was a steady drop in temperature of four degrees
an hour from 9 o'clock this morning to 8 o'clock tonight.

Blizzard in North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 29.—A severe blizzard raged throughout the central, western and northern parts of North Dakota last night causing great suffering to live stock. Thermometers here showed a drop of 44
degrees in the past twenty-four hours registering this morning at 14 below zero, the coldest of the winter.

Reducing Coal Output.

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—Because of the unusually mild weather some of the Anthracite coal producing companies are greatly reducing their output. Miners say they cannot recall such long continued mild weather
at this season of the year.

RESERVOIR DAM BREAKS NEAR GREELEY, COLORADO

Flood Washes Out Railroad Track and Drowns over 250 Head of Cattle.

Greeley, Colo., Jan. 29.—Damage estimated at nearly $200,000 was done by the breaking of the dam of the Horse Creek reservoir early today sending a flood of water over the flats inundating a strip of land
ten miles long by three miles wide and torrent down Box-Elder Creek.
The flood which for a mile ran swift current ten feet deep washed out fifty feet of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad main track and drowned approximately 250 head of cattle. The quick action of Dora Shafer the eighteen year old daughter of Frederick M. Shafer living a mile from the dam saved a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy westbound train from plunging through a weakened bridge into Box Elder creek, where the flood was at its worst.

At day-light when the Shafer family was aroused by the rush of the water, burdened with ice and cattle, past the house Miss Shafer remembered the westbound Burlington train was about due and knew the bridge across the Box-Elder creek could not hold.

She telephoned to Hudson, urging that the train be flagged. Miss Addie Gammon, night operator at the Hudson telephone exchange picked up the call and notified Keensburg
where the train was held, thus saving the lives of many passengers.

BANK CLERK HAS NARROW ESCAPE LOCKED IN VAULT

Steel Door Closes on Him and Only Quick Action Saves His Life.

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—Locked in the air-tight gold vault in the basement of the United States mint in this city today when the heavy steel door, fitted with a time lock, closed behind him, Clyde M. Taylor, a clerk was rescued in an almost unconscious condition after other employees had spent more than an hour
drilling a hole through the steel tumblers. Taylor had carried a bag of clippings into the vault when the door which weighs several tons closed on him. Fortunately other employees had witnessed the accident and a powerful steam drill was immediately set to work.

STEAMER MONROE SINKS AS RESULT OF COLLISION IN FOG

BULLETIN.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 30.—The Steamer Monroe of the Old Dominion Steamship company sank near Winter water lightship following a collision with the steamer Nantucket
of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company, at 1:30 o'clock this morning. At 3:15 o'clock the Nantucket was still standing by picking up the boats from the Monroe with passengers and crew. The extent of the damage to the Nantucket could not be learned.

The Monroe left Norfolk at seven o'clock last evening with passengers and freight for New York while the Nantucket was bound to Norfolk
from Boston with passengers and freight.

The Revenue Cutter Onondaga and tugboat J. J. Merritt have started to the Nantucket's assistance.

Records of the bureau of navigation show the Nantucket is a vessel

REBELS KILL FOUR HUNDRED FEDERALS NEAR ZACATECAS

Dynamite Bombs Are Used with Great Effect by Constitutionalists

FEDERALS AMBUSHED

Great Loss of Life Occurs When Federals from Saltillo Are Am- bushed by Rebel Forces

TWO AMERICANS EXECUTED?

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Jan. 29.— Four hundred federals were killed in the battle of Concepcion Del Rio, Zacatecas or were executed after being captured, according to an official report to constitutionalist headquarters in Matamoros today. The engagement took place early this week
south of Saltillo. The rebels lost seven killed and 70 were wounded.

Dynamite bombs were used with effect by the constitutionalists. The battle lasted 24 hours. The greatest loss of life occurred when an overwhelming force of rebels ambushed federal reinforcements from Saltillo.

Americans Shot Down?

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 29.—Two Americans, one of them P. W. Harwood, an Oakland, Calif. newspaper man were shot out from Tijuana, Mexico shortly before midnight yesterday under a guard of Mexican federal soldiers and now are believed to be lying dead in the mountains a few miles south of the line after being subjected to fugitive law. Three miles south of the border Harwood managed to slip a note to a Mexican who passed them on the road. The note was addressed to a San Diego newspaper man.

The note which reached this city
today, declared the two American prisoners had been compelled to confess they were smugglers in order to avoid "increasing the suspicions of the federal authorities who were told by some persons that we were rebels."

According to the Mexican who mailed the letter, the guard of six federals carried no supplies. This has convinced the United States officials that the prisoners were not being taken to Ensenada for trial,
as the Mexican authorities desired
but were being led beyond to the mountains where they would be subjected to the law of "La Fuga."

Are Thought to Be Outlaws.

According to the letter Harwood expected that he and his companions would be held until six other of their party had been captured by the federals. Four of the other six were captured yesterday morning in the mountains southeast of Tia Juana and are held in the jail. The other two have been cornered by a detachment of troops three miles south of Garcia. The troops are awaiting the entrance to the mine until the men are starved out.

It has leaked out, however that the federal authorities believe them to be a gang of outlaws who were planning to overthrow the federal power in Lower California.

United States customs and immigration men think the Americans are smugglers and they hold to this view despite the letter from Harwood.

Juarez, Jan. 29.—Five million Mexican dollars, received up to today, is the amount of cash which the rebels under General Francisco Villa
la possess to carry on their revolution. In addition they claim possession of much personal property,
stores, cattle and land confiscated
from rich families and valued at many millions.

The cash represents part of the wealth obtained within six months
under the direction of General Villa. It was accumulated from forced loans on banks, merchants, mines
and from taxation and import duties.

Rebels leaders said it would be impossible to estimate the actual wealth of the revolution but if money
was realized on all the property
now in their possession the proceeds would be sufficient to run a government in the rebel territory for several years and the sources of revenue are increasing. The mines and smelters are reopening on terms by which the rebels procure ten percent of the profits.

The money now in the rebel treasury is to be converted into a new issue of currency to replace various kinds of paper money now in circulation.

General Villa underwent an operation today which was necessitated by a bullet wound received months ago.
His condition was not serious. It was said he would be able to return to Chihuahua within a few days.

"Although we expect a hard fight
at Torreon," said General Villa, "I would not be surprised if the defeat of the federals would mean the downfall of Huerta. Unless he falls
the gateway to the south,
we shall probably have to fight right
on to Mexico City."

WOULD RESTRAIN INSURANCE COMPANY

RUFUS POTTS FILES BILL AGAINST DECATUR COMPANY

State Insurance Commission Asks
For an Injunction Restraining Assured National Fire Insurance Company From Continuing in Business.

DECATUR, Ill., Jan. 29.—Local attorneys for Rufus Potts, state insurance commissioner today filed a bill in the Macon county court against the Assured National Mutual Fire Insurance company of Decatur, asking for an injunction restraining the company from contin-ing in business and asking that a receiver be appointed to conserve
the interests of the policy holders.
This is the company of which Percy
B. Sullivan is head.

The petition charges that the management of the company violated the law and failed to act in the spirit or letter of its character.

The bill further charges that the law required the company to have at least $10,000 when it started business but instead of having that sum belonging to the company there was exhibited to the officials of the insurance department $10,000 which Percy B. Sullivan had borrowed for the purpose. It also charges that the cash account was added to deceive the insurance examiner; that in the annual statement filed Dec.
31st, 1912, it was reported that the total unpaid losses amounted to $4-170 and that during the next eleven months more than $11,000 in losses
were settled and the belief is expressed that the unpaid losses at the time of the report amounted to $12,000 and not $4,000.

Other items of the bill carry similar charges concerning the financial condition of the company and that certain clauses in the policy
contract are designed to defraud.
The case will be heard in the May term of court.

Sullivan is at present under indictment to the federal court for sending alleged defamatory letters through the mail, the letters it is said being against Rufus Potts.

SPEAKER CLARK ADDRESSES MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS

Asserts He Would Now Be in the White House if We Had Had Primary Election Law in 1912.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29.—"I have never been sufficiently hypocritical
to pretend that I don't praise—praise for deeds well done. If what the toastmaster said about me is true I ought to be in the white house tonight," said Speaker Champ Clark, at the annual dinner here tonight of the Merchants and Manufacturers association.

"If we had had that primary election law in 1912 I would be there,"
he added.

In referring to the vitality of the Monroe doctrine the speaker said it was "a warning to the nations of Europe to keep hands off the republic south of us lest they die."

"I predicted that Mexico would come out of its present troubles a stronger nation."

"It is a first rate time for all of us to keep our mouths shut," said the speaker. "President Wilson is better informed that we are and I am willing to abide by his decision."

Others who spoke were Secretary of Navy Daniels, Senator Borah of Idaho and Congressman Fordney of Michigan.

BODY OF WOMAN IS FOUND WEDGED UNDERNEATH HER BED

Body of Mrs. Millie Hurrell of Cincinnati is Discovered by Her Father-in-Law.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 29.—The body of Mrs. Millie Hurrell, 22, was found wedged underneath her bed in her flat here tonight. There was a jagged wound in her temple and her skull was fractured in two places.
Her arms were crossed on her chest
and her entire body swathed in two-els.

Mrs. Hurrell's body was found by her father, Frank Crutchlow and her cousin, John Mason who broke in the door of her flat. She had not been seen since Tuesday. A search was begun for the woman's husband, Jacob Hurrell, who is supposed to have gone to his father's home in Craig, Owen county, Ky. The Hurrells had been separated for some time
but it was understood a reconciliation had recently been effected and that they were to remove to Owen county, Kentucky.

POLICE ARE UNABLE TO FIND CLEW TO AUTHORSHIP OF LETTER

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—An
all day search by the police failed to give any clew to the authorship
of the letter received late last night demanding a $75,000 ransom for Francis Lewis Clark, the Spokane, Wash., millionaire, who has been missing since January 11th.

Friends of Clark are inclined to believe that the letter is not a hoax
and that Clark is really in custody
of those who signed "The black mailers" to the letter received today
by Chief of Police Sebastian of this city. Mrs. Clark who is in Paso Robles said today when informed of the receipt of the letter that further information must come from the writers before she undertook to comply with their demands.

MONDELL ARRAIGNS SECRETARY OF STATE

DESCRIBES MEXICAN POLICY AS WORK OF AMATEURS AND DREAMERS

Wyoming Representative Asserts Policy Toward Huerta Was Allowed to Drift Into a State of Aimless Vacillation While Bryan Travelled On Lecture Tours.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Describing the Mexican policy of the Wilson administration as the work of amateurs, theorists, dreamers, acting upon impulse when not prejudice, Representative Mondell of Wyoming arraigned Secretary of State William J. Bryan in the course of an address at the McKinley Day dinner of the Young Men's Republican Tariff club here tonight.

"The policy toward the government of Huerta in Mexico temporarily pursued by the Taft administration to emphasize our abhorrence and disapproval of the methods by which that government was established," said Mr. Mondell in part,
"was allowed to drift into a state of aimless vacillation while the present secretary of state travelled on lecture tours."

"The only feature of our present
attitude toward Mexico that appears to have any element of fixity is the theory that we shall decline to hold official relations with any government which people on this hemisphere may establish unless composed of persons and inaugurated under conditions entirely compatible with our ideas of what ideal government should be."

"And so we have drifted—making ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of the world and isolating ourselves from the opportunity of protecting Americans and other foreigners in Mexico and their property."

"We are holding as prisoners of war hundreds of women and children and constituting ourselves the aiders and abettors of, and to certain extent the apologists for, outlaws, bandits and murderers of the stripes of Zapata and Villa. While all this is going on and despite the admitted good intentions of the president our attitude is retarding rather than aiding in the establishment of peaceful conditions in Mexico."

"I am very glad to credit the best intentions in the world to the president and to the secretary of state
in connection with our foreign affairs, but good intentions cannot save us from disasters which amateurs, theorists, dreamers, acting on impulse when not on prejudice, are likely to bring upon us."

BRIEF SERVICES ARE HELD AT CULLOM HOME IN WASHINGTON

Body of Former Senator Shelby M.
Cullom is on Way to Springfield
For Burial.

Washington, Jan. 29.—After a brief funeral service at his home
here the body of former Senator Shelby M. Cullom was started for Springfield, Ill., on a train leaving at 11:45 a. m.

Dr. Howard Wood, a Presbyterian clergyman and a close friend of the senator told today how Mr. Cullom had changed his belief in eternity,
since writing his book.

The former senator concluded this work with an expression of doubt that he had found anything in his reading of the scriptures to warrant belief in a hereafter.

"In the last few months, his feeling changed completely," said Dr.
Wood. "He told me he believed in God and Christ and immortality and added:

"I want to make at the first opportunity a statement of my simple creed, to be inserted after the last chapter of my recollections, to correct the doubt expressed on a dark day when the light was dim."

FORMER HEAVY-WEIGHT CHAMPION AGAIN IN RING

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 29.— Robert Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion of the world displayed much of his old time speed and ring-generality here tonight in a six round bout with "Knockout" Sweeney of Cleveland. It was his first contest since he retired from the ring several years ago and pugilistic experts who witnessed the battle declared he had "come back."

Fitzsimmons blows were powerful and while Sweeney remained in the ring for the limit he was knocked down and took the count of nine repeatedly.

GOMPERS REPLIES TO CHARGES OF OTHER LEADERS OF LABOR

Defends American Feder- ation Before Convention of United Mine Workers

DENIES ALL CHARGES

Gompers Replies to Moyer and McDonald and Denies Charges Made Against Federation

McDONALD WILL SPEAK TODAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.— Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, defended that organization and its executive council in a speech late today before the convention of the United Mine Workers of America against charges made by Charles H.
Moyer president of the Western Federation of Miners, Duncan McDonald of Illinois and others in the convention.

Mr. Moyer had charged that if the copper strike in Michigan should be lost it would be due to the inactivity of the executive board of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gompers declared it would be impossible to levy an assessment for the copper mine strikers of Michigan and denied that the organization is reactionary, fossilized, worm-eaten and dead, and that the executive council is made up of "booziefighters."

After Mr. Gompers had concluded, McDonald announced he would speak to the convention in the morning and asked the federation president if he would be in the city. He said he would remain here as long as he possibly could and still keep an engagement in New York city at one o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mr.
Moyer said he would also speak tomorrow morning unless called out of the city tonight.

Frank J. Hayes, vice-president of the miners introduced Mr. Gompers and explained that he appeared before the convention to answer the charges against the federation and its executive council.

"Taking the newspaper reports as a criterion," Mr. Gompers began,
"the most important work this convention has done has consisted of attacks on the American Federation of Labor and its officers and discussion whether the president's salary should be increased $1,000 a year. I don't know if the charges in the newspapers are true but it was printed that it was declared in the convention here that the American Federation of Labor is 'reactionary, fossilized, worm-eaten and dead.' Is the newspapers' statement true?"

Amid loud cheers McDonald said,
"I made those statements and others like them."

"Only McDonald answers," Mr.
Gompers continued. "Of the eleven men who compose the executive council, eight are ex-totalitarians who never touch a drop of liquor. Two of the men men who ever take a drink. For myself, I take a glass of beer, when the day's work is done.
I challenge any man to prove otherwise than that I am as good a man,
mentally and physically, as I ever was and reached my sixty-fourth year last Tuesday."

"Fossilized and dead mean the same; but I submit that an organization can't be these and at the same time reactionary, for that means going backwards. The history of the organization shows that it is not dead."

Reads McDonald's Letters.

Mr. Gompers here directed attention to a number of letters which he said were over the signature of Duncan McDonald and published in a Chicago newspaper in 1911. He read from one of these which tended to show that the cost of living in the fourteen years preceding had increased 60 per cent and that the increase in wages amounted to 20 per cent. He said the miners would not admit they were forty per cent
worse off than they were fourteen years before.

McDonald interrupted to say he obtained the figures from a statistician employed by the federal government and that they applied to all classes of laborers as a whole.

"I suppose I shall have to submit to interruption from everyone of the 1,510 delegates if they desire,"
said Mr. Gompers. "They have their rights here as delegates while I have none."

"It is absurd to say that the miners, the tailors, the carpenters, the women who work in the sweatshops or any of the toilers of the land, if you please, are worse off now than fourteen years ago. The statement is so bereft of reason that I prefer to leave it with you than try to answer it myself."

Has Urged Amalgamation.

Mr. Gompers denied that federation had placed obstacles in the path

WITH SICK PEOPLE.

Mrs. Helen Jordan, who has been a patient at Passavant hospital is able to resume her duties as teacher at the State School for the Deaf.

Mrs. H. H. Rudisill of Arcadia who has been sick the past seven weeks with typhoid fever, showed some indications of improvement yesterday.

Mrs. Edward R. Stober, of 712 North Main street, who is a patient at Passavant hospital, suffering from pneumonia, was somewhat improved yesterday.

Miss Edith Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Henderson, has recovered from a recent illness and is able to visit her grandparents, Squire and Mrs. Amos Henderson on East North street.

Mrs. Joseph Capps who went home recently from Passavant hospital is improving in a gratifying manner.

Dan Kelly and family have recovered from the illness which afflicted them, have thoroughly fumigated their house according to law so that all desiring to visit him at Nichols park may go without fear.

J. E. Osborne was resting easily at Passavant hospital last evening and hopes to get along without more trouble. His wife returned home to Murrayville yesterday afternoon.

CAR ROBBERS HOLD UP

BIG FOUR DETECTIVE.

Recently J. T. Romaine, chief detective of the Big Four railroad with headquarters in Indianapolis, alighted in Bloomington after midnight from a freight, with the intention of putting a stop to the petty thievery of box cars in that city. No sooner had he alighted than he discovered what he thought were three tramps stealing a ride, and giving chase went between a couple of cars, only to run up against a fellow waiting for him with a drawn gun. Romaine was told to hold up his hands and at that minute another fellow poked another gun into his face to hurry up the work. They had the drop on the chief of detectives of the Big Four and he was like any other man in a like position, just unloaded. They took his watch, the valise he was carrying, his gun, his blackjack but missed his money which he had secreted in his hip pocket just before getting off of the train. When he got the detective hastened to police headquarters but a search failed to reveal the robbers.

of industrial unionism but on the contrary, he said, had encouraged it where-ever possible and had urged the amalgamation of kindred trades.

"The American Federation of Labor cannot say 'you must amalgamate,'" he continued. "Would the miners obey, if the federation should say 'you must separate'? We have as much authority one way as the other. It is an outrage to lay the failure of industrial unionism to the federation. The men and women in the labor movement are human beings and cannot be moulded in an instant to suit the desires of any one. They must first be made to see the advantages of the movement."

The speaker referred to the Rochester convention of the federation and resented that he was charged with being a "scab at heart" which he said had been made by McDonald.

"By God, that is more than a human can be expected to stand," declared Mr. Gompers. He said he had passed over many insults but this one could not be overlooked. He said McDonald denied the statement that he had made in the convention and that that was sufficient.

Mr. Moyer said his speech had been correctly reported when asked by Mr. Gompers, who then turned to the charge that the executive board had been inactive in regard to the copper strike.

"I have given, and will continue to give, all that is in me to further the strike of the copper miners," declared Mr. Gompers. "No accusation could be more unjust than that of Mr. Moyer. Talk about the American Federation not raising money. You may not know that the miners only pay nine cents a year to the American Federation of Labor. That is all the other organizations affiliated with the federation pay also. Do you think we can accumulate a large defense fund on that tax?"

"Mr. Moyer says it cost about $30,000 a week. The federation could raise only $90,000 in six months. If every organization were to pay. That would run the strikers only three weeks and the organizations have sixty days in which to meet the assessment."

Mr. Gompers read a list of all the unions affiliated with the federation stating after each name whether it would be able to meet an assessment. He said only about two thirds of the list could pay.

"An assessment would mean the disintegration of the American Federation of Labor for the constitution of the organization provides for the expulsion of any union which does not meet the assessments. In all the history of the federation only twelve assessments have been levied."

"It is just as reasonable to charge the loss of the fight of the Southern confederacy to Jeff Davis as it is to charge the loss of the Michigan strike if it should fail to our executive council. The confederacy lost because its resources were exhausted. Jeff Davis could not supply funds when there were no more and neither can the executive council."

Steps Taken To Further Strike.

Mr. Gompers details in chronological order the steps the executive council had taken to further the strike and told of the efforts put forth to obtain federal investigation of the Michigan and Colorado strikes.

"Not a thing was asked," said Mr. Gompers, "that we did not except to levy an assessment and that was impossible. Who, now can truthfully charge the executive council with inactivity or neglect?"

Mr. Gompers denied that the delegate from the United Mine Workers of America to the convention of the American Federation of Labor had been insulted.

"Insults have been hurled at the officers of the federation," he asserted, "and libelous articles over the names of the delegates have appeared in the press during the conventions."

"In the election of officers at Seattle, there was no intended slight to President John P. White of this organization. He was selected a vice president of the federation not seventh vice-president. The federation has eight vice-presidents. I have explained this to President White, but he has not, as yet, seen fit to rescind his resignation. I hope this convention will urge him to accept the position."

President White has been suffering from a cold for several days and today his physician ordered him to remain in his room. Earlier in the convention he explained that he had resigned as seventh vice-president of the federation because he did not believe the position was in keeping with the dignity of the United Mine Workers of America.

Just before adjournment it was announced that the proposition to increase the salary of the president of the miners from $3,000 to $4,000 a year had passed by a vote of 1,753 to 1,497.

United States Senator John W. Kern of Indiana telegraphed President White today that he would arrive in Indianapolis at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The convention voted not to change the constitution so that the polls during an international election would remain open one week. The second Tuesday in December on alternative years will continue to be election day for the miners.

MISS MARJORIE DAVENPORT WEDS IN SPRINGFIELD

Becomes the Bride of Mr. Horace E. Glass of Quincy, in Which Place They Will Make Their Home.

The many friends of Miss Marjorie Davenport of Pisgah will be surprised to learn of her marriage in Springfield to Mr. Horace E. Glass of Quincy. The ceremony took place Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the Central Baptist church, Rev. S. H. Bowyer, pastor of the church officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davenport of the Pisgah neighborhood and has a great many friends in Jacksonville and community. She has a sister residing in Quincy and it was while visiting there that she met Mr. Glass. He is a postal clerk employed on the Wabash railroad and the young people expect to make their home in Quincy.

SPECIAL FOR TODAY. LOGANBERRY PIE. IDEAL BAKERY. STATE ST.

THE QUINCY ELECTION.

In the recent election in Quincy as to whether the city would adopt the commission form of government the proposition lost by the marginal majority of 7,920.

"While we do not doubt but that the good people of Quincy would go on record as being opposed to the commission plan, still we did not for one moment think that the vote would be so unmistakably in opposition to the proposition. It indicates that our people are mightily well satisfied to continue along the lines they have mapped out, and pull together for the uplift of the community, without spending ten or fifteen thousand dollars more each year in salaries for city officials."

"The people have spoken and in no unmistakable tone of voice. It is unfortunate, to an extent, that the impression prevailed throughout the city that those advocating the commission form of government were aligned with the Anti-Saloon league movement. A large percentage of those that by their vote indicated their opposition to the commission plan were of the opinion that notwithstanding the denials that had been made by some of the leaders of the Anti-Saloon league that they were in league with the commission form advocates that there was some connection between the two."

"The vote indicates that Quincy voters are not in favor of a 'dry' town, and this indication is unmistakable. On every hand yesterday expressions were heard to the effect that the strong opposition to the commission was largely because of the fear that it would be possible for three of the commissioners, should this proposition carry, to vote the saloons out of business in Quincy, no matter whether the people should vote 'wet' or 'dry' in case that proposition comes to a vote this spring."

BELIEVE HENRY LEFT WOODSON BY TRAIN

TRAIL FOLLOWED BY BLOOD HOUNDS LED TO POINT NEAR RAILROAD STATION.

State and County Will Offer Reward
For Capture of Man Charged With Murder of Three—Inquest Will Be Held Monday at Woodson—Further Evidence That Henry Had Been Drinking Prior to Murders.

Another day has passed since the triple tragedy at Woodson and still there have been no startling developments. In accordance with the arrangements made by Sheriff Rogers, the Strumpler blood hounds were taken from Springfield to Woodson early Thursday morning and the trail which the dogs followed indicated that John Henry, who is accused of the murders, left the scene of his crimes on a Chicago & Alton train.

Until yesterday morning the people of the Woodson neighborhood for the most part were firmly of the opinion that John Henry's lifeless body would be found somewhere in the neighboring fields, a suicide. But after the work by the dogs they were just as firm in the belief that Henry had escaped to another state and was probably hundreds of miles away.

The story that Charles Henry had received a telephone message from his son, John, at Mexico, Missouri, early Wednesday morning in which the son asked conditions in Woodson, proved to be untrue. The only foundation for this story was that a call from Mexico, Mo., did come to Mr. Henry but before any telephone connection had been made, or there had been any conversation the call was cancelled, and whoever had made the call at Mexico, could not be located nor the identity learned.

Hounds Took Trail.
The two hounds which Mr. Strumpler brought from Springfield, reached Woodson about 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Strumpler was accompanied by one of his assistants and he was met at Woodson by Sheriff Rogers, States Attorney Tilton and Deputy Sheriff Todd. The dogs were taken to the Henry home and from there followed a trail to the Ezard home, and back again to Henry's. Then they raced along across the railroad west and then a half mile south to the Crain farm. From this point the dogs led the way for 200 yards west of the Crain place into an adjoining field and then took up a trail which led east and north across the railroad track, to the Grunder farm which adjoins the Ezard farm on the north. From that point the dogs led the way to the Chicago & Alton tracks stopping at a spot a short distance south of the station.

The theory is that Henry after killing Crain went to the Grunder farm and possibly sought to make an attack on Mr. Grunder, and falling in this he hurried to the Alton tracks and was in hiding until a train came along. He might have ridden on the blind baggage of the passenger train which went south about 8:45 or possibly he boarded the freight which went south about an hour later than that.

Believe Henry Boarded Train.
Mr. Strumpler when asked about the results of the search said: "There is no use looking for this man anywhere hereabouts as I am firmly convinced that he took an Alton train, either north or south, very soon after the crimes were committed. The dogs had no difficulty in following the trail although a good many hours had elapsed since Henry made his escape."

While the dogs were at work they were followed by Mr. Strumpler and his assistant and Deputy Sheriff Todd, and for part of the distance by Mr. Tilton and various citizens of Woodson. Sheriff Rogers was in a buggy and was able to keep in sight of the hounds.

Secured Drink Here.
There has been a great difference of opinion as to whether or not Henry had been drinking before he returned to Woodson on the night of the tragedy. His own family gave certain testimony that he was somewhat under the influence of liquor on various business men who conversed with the man about 5 o'clock detected no signs whatever of liquor. Thursday however, Sheriff Rogers secured a statement from a Woodson citizen that Henry had told him that he had secured one drink of whisky while in Jacksonville. Henry is reported to have said, "Yes, I wanted a drink mighty bad while I was in Jacksonville and I came near not having it. Finally, I went to a doctor's office and asked for a drink and he told me that if he couldn't give me one but that if he would go into the medicine room and could find one that it was all right. In the medicine room I located the bottle and had one drink. I was trying to buy some whisky and had a chance to get some from a nigger boot legger but bad as I wanted it I couldn't buy the stuff from a nigger."

Rewards Will Be Offered.
States Attorney Tilton, in communication with the office of Governor Dunne, yesterday and was given the assurance that as soon as a full description is furnished the office that the customary state award of $200 will be offered for the arrest of the fugitive. Sheriff Rogers also brought the matter to the attention of the County Board and they will announce Saturday the amount of the reward the county will offer if no information is secured by that time. The story of the crime appeared in papers all over the country Wednesday morning and during the day Sheriff Rogers furnished the description of the man, and the facts about the crimes to Kansas City, East St. Louis and some other cities. Inquest to be Held Monday.

It has now been practically decided that the inquest will be held Monday at 9 o'clock at Woodson. The reason for postponement is that both Mrs. Ezard and Mrs. Henry are in such a highly nervous condition that they are really not fit to take the stand and testify. A. B. Crain, a brother of Everett Crain, who lives at Roodhouse, where he is a conductor on the Chicago & Alton was in Woodson yesterday to give whatever aid and comfort he could to the widow of his brother and also to his sister, Mrs. Earl White, who lives in Woodson. Mr. Crain was also in conversation with States Attorney Tilton and is naturally very desirous that everything possible should be done to bring the murderer of his brother to justice. Mr. Crain came from Woodson to Jacksonville for a further consultation with States Attorney Tilton. He was accompanied by his wife who was formerly Miss Cruse of East Morton avenue.

Father of Everett Crain Here.
The father of Everett Crain who has been living for several years with another son, B. Crain at Doyle, Tennessee, arrived in Woodson last night. He was accompanied by his youngest son, J. D. Crain of Atlanta, Ga.

Everett Crain, who was killed Tuesday night was 38 years of age and was born in Tennessee. He came to Morgan county 14 or 15 years ago and had come to be one of the well respected members of the Woodson community. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Minnie White and she died when their infant child, William Crain was two weeks old. This son is now living with the grandmother, Mrs. W. B. White in Woodson. Subsequently Mr. Crain was married to Miss Grunder and as previously related they had two sons, Oswald 7, and Howard, aged 3 years, who was killed the same time his father met death.

NIGHT PROWLER CAUSED ALARM IN COUNTRY

ARMED MAN APPEARED NEAR HOME OF FRANK WALTMAN.

Sheriff Appealed to for Aid Declined to Send Deputies—Believed That Nervousness Rather Than Facts Had Much to do With Incident—Neighbors Think Intruder Is Hidden in Barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waltman reside on the old Morton farm three miles east of Jacksonville on the Morton road. About nine o'clock last night just as they were retiring their daughter Marie, heard the yard gate click and called the attention of her parents to the noise. Mrs. Waltman looked out of the window and saw a man advancing up the walk. She rushed to the phone to call the nearby residence of Patrick Dowling. The man evidently heard the turning of the crank on the telephone box for he immediately retraced his steps. Then within a few moments Mr. and Mrs. Waltman saw him move toward the house, pass around the side and out toward the barn. He left the barn yard gate open and thus turned loose a number of horses which had been placed there for the night. The watchers were confident the intruder was armed with a shotgun.

Decline to Make Search.

After Mrs. Waltman telephoned to the Dowling residence, what they had seen, Dowling appealed to Sheriff Rogers to send deputies out to search the barn. The sheriff declined to do so unless there was a warrant out for the intruder or there was some definite charges against the man.

An appeal was made also to the police department but Mrs. Dowling was informed that the police have no jurisdiction beyond the city limits.

Various Rumors Afloat.

The story of the happening soon became current all along the country side and the telephone lines were kept clicking. As the man was said to be carrying a shotgun rumor soon had it that John Henry, guilty of three murders was in the neighborhood and had sought refuge in the barn. Then as it was known that a man escaped from the Sangamon county jail Thursday many expressed the belief that the fugitive had taken a Wabash train out of Springfield and had probably alighted at Arnold rather than run the chances of riding into Jacksonville and meeting police at the station. Altogether the community east of the city was very much stirred up over the happening. Mr. Waltman had no weapons at all at hand and so he did not feel that it would be safe to search the barn and possibly order the intruder away and other men in the neighborhood did not feel inclined to organize any searching party.

People are Nervous.

Sheriff Rogers, after hearing the facts as related over the phone declined to send officers to the scene of the disturbance last night. He did not think there was anything definite enough about the story to warrant any activity on the part of his office and was inclined to think that at any ordinary time no particular attention would have been paid to the incident. People in various parts of the county have been feeling very nervous since the awful tragedy at Woodson and the sheriff believed that nervousness had much to do with the incident at the Waltman home.

Residents Angry at Officer.

Members of the Waltman family and others in the neighborhood were greatly incensed because of the refusal of both Sheriff Rogers and Deputy Todd to go out and search for the man. They considered it a part of the lawful duties of these officials to investigate such complaints and to allay fears and put an end to any danger there might be at hand from the presence of the stranger. Mr. Waltman talked to Mr. Todd over the phone and asked him to visit the farm but the deputy did not think the case warranted the night ride and search.

Mr. Dowling who was attending the social at the K. C. hall was called by his family and told of the happenings and later met Mr. Todd at the Star lunch room and asked him to accompany him to the Waltman place. The refusal of the deputy to acquiesce to this request made Mr. Dowling very angry.

It is possible that this morning an investigation of the case may be made through the sheriff's office.

WOMAN UNABLE TO SAVE HUSBAND FROM DROWNING

Ellis, Kan., Jan. 29.—After struggling for hours to rescue her husband from a well on his farm near here today Mrs. Gabriel Dinkel gave up exhausted and Mr. Dinkel drowned before her eyes in four feet of water. Dinkel was completing the wall of a new well. He slipped and fell forty feet to the bottom. His wife heard him cry. She obtained a rope and lowered herself into the well but Dinkel was so crippled he could be of no aid. For a time the woman held her husband's head above water and time and again tried to climb up with him. At last the injured man crumpled up in the shallow water and drowned. Mrs. Dinkel was able to struggle out of the well and then collapsed. She is in a dangerous condition.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mrs. Ona Crum entertained a company of twenty at a 6 o'clock dinner at her home in Litterberry Thursday evening. After the dinner a program of musical numbers was enjoyed and the evening proved a most pleasant one.

The dance given at the Peacock Inn by the Kangaroo club last evening was well attended and an enjoyable program of regular and feature dances was given to the accompaniment of music by the Randall orchestra. Paul B. Fritchey, Marcy Osborne and George Vasconcellos made up the committee in charge.

The birthday social of the Ladies' Aid society of Centenary M. E. church was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Bristow, 834 West North street, Thursday afternoon. Miss Stella Shuff gave a number of vocal numbers and Miss Sue Fox readings and after a social hour light refreshments were served.

About one hundred members of Rebekah lodge No. 13 met yesterday at the home of Mrs. George Siegfried, 607 South East street for an enjoyable evening of music, games and social converse. Among those who furnished the music were the Misses Carlson, Miss Grace McCarthy, Miss Fern Haigh and Clarence Siegfried. The refreshments were elaborate and appetizing and the house was prettily decorated with pink and green, the colors of the Rebekah lodge.

Members of the History club gave a progressive dinner Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Capps on Mound avenue which proved a very happy event. The club this winter is engaged in a serious study of the drama and the dinner was the first occasion of a social kind not only this year but in the history of the organization. A series of cards distributed among the company indicated the places at the tables and for the final course there were bouquets instead of cards. The matching of the cards and flowers gave an added interest to the dinner plans. Messrs. Hood and Larson served. Each member of the club was privileged to invite one guest and the hostess was granted further latitude in this regard, the company including:

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Capps, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Brockhouse, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Vosseller, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison W. King, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Dobyns, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Capps, Miss Marie Chambers, Mrs. R. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Lloyd Brown, Mr. James G. Capps, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walton, Paul P. Thompson, Dr. E. A. Norris.

Mrs. R. S. Nelson's class, the Marvys and Marthas of Grace M. E. church, spent a delightful afternoon Thursday with Mrs. S. T. Erickson at her hospitable home, 269 Webster ave. There was a good attendance of members and after the business session a social hour was enjoyed when refreshments were served.

GEORGE MYERS DIES IN KANSAS CITY

Former Buyer for the Jacksonville State Hospital Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis—Will Be Buried Here in Spring.

C. H. Russell received a telegram last night announcing the death of George Myers, who passed away Thursday evening at 6:25 o'clock at his home in Kansas City. About a week ago Mr. Myers suffered a paralytic stroke and the attending physician has held out little hopes for his recovery.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Myers who came to Jacksonville from the east. His father was a carpenter who built the Congregational church. The son after his education entered a business career and during the Altgeld administration became buyer for the Jacksonville State hospital, a position he held for a great many years and filled honorably.

He married Miss Linda Mathews, who at that time was a teacher in the Academy and she survives him, but no children. Since leaving Jacksonville Mr. Myers had been in business in Kansas City, his last position being manager of the New England Safety Department Vaults. He was a man highly regarded by all who knew him and had a great many friends in Jacksonville. He was a close friend of Sol Smith Russell and Bob Russell. He was a member of the Congregational church and of Harmony lodge A. F. and A. M. of this city.

Funeral services will be held in Kansas City Friday and the remains will be placed in a vault there. In the spring the remains will be brought to Jacksonville and interred in Diamond Grove cemetery.

CHAUTAUQUA ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ARE NAMED

At a meeting of the directors of the Chautauqua Association held in the office of Dr. C. E. Black the following officers were chosen: President—Dr. C. E. Black. Vice president—Bernard Gause. Secretary—A. C. Rice. Treasurer—Charles R. Knochenberg.

The officers and directors will actively get to work and arrange various details for next summer's chautauqua. Some new ideas will be carried out in connection with it and it is believed that with the effective organization which has been outlined that the success of former years can be surpassed. Certainly the association is well officered and has an excellent board of directors.

FUNERALS TO BE HELD FROM WOODSON CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Services Over Remains of Mr. Ezard to be at 10:30 and That of Mr. Crain and His Son at 11:30—Citizens Who Will Act as Bearers.

Arrangements have been completed for the funerals of Charles Ezard, Everett Crain and son, Howard Crain, which will take place this morning at the Christian church in Woodson. The funeral of Mr. Ezard will be at 10:30 and that of Mr. Crain and his son will be at 11:30. The ministers in charge will be Dr. G. W. Miller, Rev. J. E. Coleman and Rev. Ira C. Smith.

Music for the sad occasion will be furnished by a double quartet composed of Mrs. R. R. Jones, Mrs. Allen Russell, Mrs. Harriet Smith and Miss Meda Gallagher, Messrs. William Colton, William Russell, Mr. George M. Cavanaugh and Dr. R. R. Jones.

The remains of Mr. Ezard will be interred in Diamond Grove cemetery and the bearers will be Messrs. John Fitzsimmons, Otto Finch, John Combs, Jepheth Henry, Simpson Butler, and Harry Cade.

The remains of Mr. Crain and his son will be buried in Asbury cemetery. The bearers for the former will be Messrs. Joseph Crain, Bert Fitzsimmons, John Irlan, Charles Irlan, N. H. Crain and Frank Crain. Four boys will act as bearers for Howard Crain as follows—Edward Fuller, Lloyd Fitzsimmons, Dewey Megginson and Raymond Whitlock.

NEGRO, GUILTY OF ASSAULT, IS GIVEN FIFTY YEAR SENTENCE

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 29.—Douglas Gant, a negro charged with an assault upon Miss Rosa Higgins, a white woman, was today found guilty and sentenced to fifty years imprisonment.

Gant attacked the woman early one evening and a posse searched one entire day before finding him in a field. He was at once taken out of the city to escape violence.

S. T. Clanton, a colored attorney, defended Gant. When the jury returned their verdict, Gant made no sign of surprise. Following the assault he confessed to the deputy sheriffs that he was guilty of the crime and would plead guilty but after securing an attorney he denied his confession. On the stand he testified that the woman had agreed to meet him.

COUNTERFEITORS WORK IN PRISON MACHINE SHOP

PRISONERS AT JOLIET DETECT-ED MAKING FIVE CENT PIECES.

Nickels Were Being Passed in the Prison Store—Men Had Prepared Dies For Quarters and Dollars But None of These Had Been Coined.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 29.—Five convicts who have been making counterfeit five cent pieces in the machine shop of the prison here were detected today. The nickels were passed in the prison store.

The leaders were F. Collins, a tin-smith who was sentenced from Chicago last August for assault and robbery and Alfred Schock, a machinist also sentenced from Chicago last August for robbery. The others assisted in minor capacities.

All were employed in the machine shop where there is but one guard who has to cover two floors, one of which is of necessity left unwatched while the other is being patrolled.

Thus the men had leisure to make their dies. They made probably ten dollars worth of nickels and had prepared dies for quarters and dollars, none of which, however, had been coined.

When the presence of the spurious coins were detected in the prison store Captain Porter of the Secret Service at Chicago was summoned on the theory that the coins had come into the prison from the outside. He located the culprits.

CASE ADDED TO DOCKET OF CIRCUIT COURT.

The case of Leah N. Goacher vs. George E. Bourland, et al, bill for partition was Thursday added to the docket of the Morgan county circuit court and will come up for trial at the next term.

Suit is brought by Leah N. Goacher of St. Louis through her attorneys Johnson and Owen, and Bellatti and Bellatti, against George E. Bourland, Ella Bourland, Sally Bourland Seymour, Alice Bourland Jones and Kate Bourland Austiff, for division of the estate left by Presley G. Bourland, father of the above named.

The land in question is the southeast quarter of section four and the southeast quarter southwest quarter section four, township 13, range 8, comprising 200 acres in this county. With the exception of Kate Bourland Austiff all of the above named defendants are children of the late Presley G. Bourland by his second wife, Susan Bourland. Leah N. Goacher and Kate Bourland Austiff are daughters of the first wife.

The complainant in the suit filed yesterday asserts that rents, issues, profits, and income of said land has been collected by the defendants and converted to their own use and that no accounting has been made to her and that she has received nothing from the land, in which she lays claim to one-sixth interest. The complainant is desirous that a division or partition of the described premises be made and that if an agreement cannot be reached in any other way that the land be sold and the money be divided as she claims it should be among the six legal heirs of Presley G. Bourland.

REPORTS OF CASTRO'S ARRIVAL IN TRINIDAD PROVE UNFOUNDED

Former Dictator of Venezuela is Said to Have Sailed For Porto Rico By Way of New York.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Jan. 29.—Rumors current in Caracas, that General Cipriano Castro, ex-president of Venezuela had arrived in Trinidad, are unfounded. Advice received in the Venezuelan colony here are to the effect that the former dictator recently sailed from an European port for Porto Rico, by way to New York to join his family.

General Jose Manuel Hernandez, leader of the national liberal party of Venezuela who came to Port of Spain from New York in October last with the avowed intention of furthering his candidacy to succeed General Juan Vicente Gomez as Venezuelan president still remains here.

General Hernandez claims his political position is improving daily. "As the illegal retention of power by President Gomez becomes evident to the Venezuelan people," said the general today, "they will refuse to submit to his unconstitutional continuance of the presidency."

NO REINFORCEMENTS OF BLUEJACKETS NEEDED IN HAITI

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Quiet prevailed at Port au Prince late today when Captain Russell, commanding the Battleship South Carolina, reported to the navy department by wireless that it would not be necessary to reinforce the detachment of sixty bluejackets already landed in the Haitian capital from the armored cruiser Montana to protect foreigners and their property.

Captain Russell said, however, that he had sent ashore a medical officer with a dozen marines to aid in caring for islanders wounded during the fighting Thursday when President Oreste abandoned his government and sought refuge aboard the German Cruiser Vineta.

Titles will be decided in seven classes, ranging from bantamweight to the unlimited heavyweight class.

THINK MOVE POLITICAL RATHER THAN RELIGIOUS

PRESIDENT OF CHINESE REPUBLIC PRESCRIBES WORSHIP OF CONFUCIUS.

News That Confucianism Had Received State Recognition Causes Regret But No Alarm For the Prosperity of the Missions Maintained by American Churches in China.

New York, Jan. 29.—Political rather than religious significance is attached by officers of foreign missions organizations to the action of the Chinese administrative council today prescribing the worship of heaven and of Confucius by the president of the republic.

The news brought from Peking today by dispatches to the Associated Press caused regret that Confucianism should receive state recognition but no alarm for the prosperity of the missions maintained by the American churches in China.

American missionaries regret the dissolution of the Chinese parliament and the recent monarchical tendencies shown by President Yuan Shi Kai, but they retain confidence in assurances that the president has given of friendliness toward the Christian religion. Recent letters received at headquarters here that Christian workers in the Chinese field testified to this belief.

"I think," said Dr. F. M. North, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church in charge of the Chinese field, "that President Yuan Shi Kai is concerned that there shall not come to China a period of irreligion. Our missionaries who know him say he believes it is essential that his country shall not lose its ethical strength."

"It is to be regretted that the question of religion in China has not remained open but we have no doubt of the president's friendliness. He has said the ethics of Christianity are essential to Chinese republic. This does not mean that they have embraced Christianity but it is a sign of Yuan Shi Kai's good will and recognition of our missions."

Edward Lincoln Smith corresponding secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions of the Congregational church, agreed in a measure with Dr. North. "It looks to me," he said, "like an effort on Yuan Shi Kai's part to conserve the old religion. I do not believe it will interfere with our work. We have just had proof of Chinese friendship, that our missions take entire charge of the public school system in a large section of the provinces. The government offered to furnish and equip the school houses and make an annual grant of $2,800 if the board will supervise the work."

On behalf of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church Dr. A. Woodruff Halsey, secretary of the home department of that organization said lately:

"We are opposing the move toward Confucianism for the good of China herself rather than because we believe it will hamper the work of our missionaries there. It would be a backward step in the progress of China for it would permit the shrewd and unscrupulous to mix religion with business and politics."

Missionary workers here recalled that the Chinese provisional constitution demanded religious freedom and that they agreed that today's move by the administration which Yuan Shi Kai they hear, practically controls, indicated reactionary tendencies.

In a recent report to the state department the American charge d'affaires at Peking took this same view. He pointed out that the revolution which established the republic discredited Confucianism because it was associated with the old order. At that time, Confucian temples were destroyed or turned to secular uses.

Foremost in the movement to restore Confucianism was Dr. Chen Huan Chang, who has the degree of doctor of philosophy from Columbia university. He is remembered here as one of the brightest Chinese that ever attended Columbia and his influence in China has been marked. At the head of a company of Chinese scholars he did his best to have Confucianism designated as the state religion, without however, depriving the people of religious liberty.

Missionary workers here believe the action of the Chinese counsel would not retard the Christian movement in China if it did not tend toward curtailment of religious freedom which not only the Christian converts of the republic but members of other denominations demand.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO ASSIST.

Business Organizations Throughout the State to Take Part in Illinois Centennial Celebration.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—The Illinois Commercial Federation, which includes in its membership all of the commercial organizations in the state, will join hands with the Illinois Centennial commission in making the state's centennial celebration in 1918 the most notable event of this sort in the history of the nation.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Commercial Federation, held this week in Springfield, members of the committee gave their enthusiastic endorsement to the plans for the centennial celebration as outlined by the centennial commission. Members of the federation will have an active part in the celebration in every community of the state where a chamber of commerce or commercial club exists.

Elbert C. Ferguson, a prominent attorney of Chicago, is president of the Illinois Commercial Federation and he has offered his services to the centennial commission in any capacity in which he may assist. It is probable that President Ferguson will be invited to meet with the centennial commission at an early date to make plans for the part to be taken by the Commercial Federation in the coming celebration.

AVERAGE FARMER DOESN'T MAKE WAGES, SAY FARM EXPERTS

Study of Conditions in Illinois, Indiana and Iowa Shows Agriculture Is the Poorest Paying Business.

Drovers' Journal.—In a bulletin on farm management, based on a study of farms in Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, the Department of Agriculture indicates that there is poor pay in farming under present conditions.

"One farmer out of every twenty-two received a labor income of over $2,000 a year," says the department. "One farmer out of every three paid for the privilege of working his per cent interest on his investment, his farm—that is, after deducting 5 he failed to make a plus labor income."

"The average return on investment from the farms in Illinois was 3.6 per cent, in Iowa 3.2 per cent and in Indiana 3.5 per cent. The income is a moderate return on the large capital, considering the enormous rise in land values during the past ten years."

Can't Make Wages.
"Of the entire number, nine men with less than $5,000 capital received $74 for their year's work. Only two farmers out of forty-six with less than $10,000 invested made over $400. Out of the entire 273, only twelve men received over $2,000 labor income. Each of these had more than $20,000 invested. The chance of a farm owner making a labor income of $1,000 with less than $15,000 invested is less than 1 in 20."

"The average labor income of the farm owners was $408 and of the tenants $870. In addition, the operators had a house to live in and those products which the farm furnished toward their living."

"Their landlords, on the average, derived 3.5 per cent on their investments."

The investigation showed that the average farmer on 80 to 120 acres, free from debt, has available about $998 a year to live on.

The district selected for study in Illinois comprised an area of about 110 square miles in the southern part of Cass and Menard counties, in an excellent farming section.

FORMER RESIDENT WRITES OF EARLIER DAYS IN ILLINOIS

Editor Journal:

In June of July last Mr. W. H. Jordan, commander of Matt Starr Post turned over to me a letter from J. M. Lindley, a former resident here, but now of Bozeman, Mont., telling of his having a post there named in honor of Lt. Wm. L. English, formerly of Jacksonville. I had the letter printed in the Journal of July 12, 1913, and wrote to Mr. Lindley, asking about his early residence in Jacksonville, and his history.

Today I received the following, which is valuable as showing how prominent residents of this place were connected with others prominent in old Virginia and Kentucky, as well as out west. The brick house referred to, where the Calloways lived, was probably one that used to stand on the south side of East College street, or College avenue, between East street and Clay avenue.

The reference to Mr. Russell of Berean college, now Passavant hospital, probably refers to some schism and forming a new church, in the Christian church here.

Ensley Moore.

Bozeman, Mont., Jan. 15, 1914.
Ensley Moore, Jacksonville, Ill.
Dear Sir: Yours of May 20th has been somewhat neglected; you ask me as to the residence of Col. Jas. E. Callaway. He being one of the 21st Ill. and had been lived in Jacksonville, Ill., and other data of any one from your city who were in the civil war.

J. E. came with his father's family and lived on East College street, a little east of the residence of Richard Yates, (war governor) 1858-9; think left there in 1860. His sister, Sarah, was married about that time to Dr. Reat, (Jas. H. Reat, afterwards assistant surgeon, 21. Ill.)

Jas. E. Callaway came to Montana territory as secretary of state, appointment of President U. S. Grant. To tell his history here would require a book of many pages. He occupied many positions of honor, was one of the members of the first state legislature, and was his grandfather of Kentucky's first legislator. Married in Tuscola, from whence he took a company for the 21-Ill. In the Nez Perce Indian war he raised a company and went to the relief of the settlers. To go back, he graduated from the law office of Richard Yates, who was also from Kentucky. To look up the ancestry of this family of Calloways would have to go back to the revolutionary days of Washington and his officers, we would find them of the highest character.

A westerner who visited the national library at Washington must admire the fine picture of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, I did, but it was not more prized by me at least, than was a smaller picture near by it—Three little girls being captured by the Indians. One of these was the daughter of Daniel Boone, the others the Calloways, the father, a brother of J. E.'s grandfather. If the Boone-Callaway people of this state were all brought together they would make no small society, and are people of exalted character. * * * His father was Rev. Samuel T. (Christian church, later Baptist.)

As for myself; came to Jacksonville; I lived with my uncle and aunt, brick house of Mrs. Bibb, East College street, near the Calloways, attended the Berean college, but was only a wild boy from the wilds of Minnesota. I was so far on the frontier of Minnesota that I had quite a good opportunity of learning a smattering of the Sioux language. I will write of something that may be of interest to some of the older inhabitants of Jacksonville. I returned to my native town early in 1860, I desired to learn something more of my people. I knew that Hickman New preached to a little flock in a little log building in the beech woods; it was also, I think, used for a school house. My grandfather and my mother attended this little church, which was some two miles south of Vernon, Ind., the oldest town in the state except Vincennes, should say in the interior, back from the Ohio. (It was a good town when Indianapolis was struggling in the mud. Now has a population of less than 400). So I hunted up this old man.

He seemed to be glad to meet me and tell of old times, and that was 55 years ago. He informed me of his performing the marriage ceremony of Jas. M. Lindley and Malissa Biggs, and about the same time that of H. M. Biggs and Julia Lindley. He seemed to like to tell of those things of now some 55 years ago. He told of preaching my father's funeral, of which I had some recollection. * * * To speak of the more modern, he told of the building up of the Christian church at Jacksonville. He spoke of Rev. J. T. Jones, Happy, and others. He condemned in no uncertain language Rev. Walter S. Russell, president of the Berean college, during my stay at Jacksonville. The split in the church it appeared caused the downfall of that college. I thought he was a noble man, but I suppose he had ideas of his own. Died in the service of his country at Vicksburg. (So I was informed by Sol Smith Russell, his brother). There were a great many people in your country, some at Jacksonville. (In the counties of Morgan, Scott, Sangamon and Central Illinois) from South Indiana and North Kentucky. As Ingersoll said it was a large and well beaten trail. * * * Let us go back to the name of New. John C. New, whom Lincoln sent as his best man (consul general) to England, was born in that little old town (Vernon, Ind.).

I have no doubt but I have stubbed my big toe against the same beech-root that caused the stone bruise on the heel of J. C. N. of Indianapolis. U. S. Judge Jephtha New was born there, as was John C., publisher of the State Journal, so was the distinguished, civil war, Gen. Foster. I have an old clipping before me. (I gather a little here and a little there * * *) "Chicago, May 20th, 1913. Col. Harry S. New tonight announced United States Senator Elihu Root as temporary chairman of the Republican national committee. * * * "I have just received the acceptance of Senator Root tonight," said Colonel New. "There is nothing more I can say." This is a son of J. C. N. of Indianapolis.

A few months after the meeting with the Reverend, I was in new scenes. O'Brien's Bluffs, noted I think for having been the scene of a massacre; again, Ash Hollow; here it was that Gen. Harney had a battle with the Sioux.

But I was speaking of my native town, Vernon, to leave the impression, that it was something of an "Athens" as well as Jacksonville. * * I left Nebraska City, Neb., Dec. 24th, 1862, in charge of a Bull train for Denver; Dec. 4th, 1863, I left Virginia City, Mont., in charge of a bull train for Utah.

The foregoing has nothing of my civil war service; one would suppose that I had none.

In April, about the 18th, 1861, went in for the first call, but was on the 30th of May, 1861, mustered at Leavenworth, Kas., in Co. K, 1st Kas. V. Inf. for three years; 10th of August, 1861. (Battle of Wilson Creek) received a bullet which sent me to the general U. S. A. hospital at St. Louis. (Bullet which I still carry). For this disability I was discharged in October, 1861.

When I lay on my back and read about the dangers and hardships of Boone and his companions. (Reading by firelight, candles were scarce and no electric lights those days). Little did I think that I would have a more strenuous experience than either Boone or Callaway with our red brothers. Yet there never was a time that I did not have a true pathetic feeling for them. I was always ready to lend a hand, and give them food, and as a rule they were appreciative. The meanest, as I thought, were those most contaminated by their association with the palefaces. I was boss for a man on the Platte, who had no use for the Indians—he would rather kick one out of camp than look at him. Seemed to think that was the proper way to treat them. That man was killed; his body was found, but was headless. Never found it; his family was massacred; wife taken and held for some years; I think it was General Sibley who got her up on the North Missouri.

In 1867, I think it was, a cattle camp was started on the Shields river; five of them were killed, and at one time. That is some 34 miles from here, just over the divide. In 1872 four of us established a camp on Shields in the same place, cattle herd. Of the four, three were killed. Here was but four of us and three killed, but that was not all that were killed. Every year war parties would come in sight of Ft. Ellis. (3 miles east of Bozeman, to guard the pass). Every year until the year of the Custer massacre, which was in 1876. That Yellowstone country is strewn with bones of the paleface.

In the fall of 1875, some wolves and troopers stopped with me on their way down the Yellowstone; one of them, a friend and most worthy gentleman, I endeavored to dissuade them, that it was too dangerous, but they thought it incumbent on them one who had been in the danger zone so long. My good friend left a book with me as a remembrance. It is one of "International Scientific Series, Draper." Some months after I had the following in place on the inside of the cover, which I have before me:

"Owen Mason killed by the Sioux. Fort Pease thought to be in danger.

Five Miles below Clark's Ford. December 23, 1875.

"We met today Wm. Gastro and Jeff Thompson, who in company with Owen Mason, went down the Big Horn. When eight miles from Ft. Pease, between the fort and Little Horn, they were attacked by about one hundred Sioux Indians, who killed Mason.

"They took from him nine horses, 500 pounds of flour, 150 pounds of sugar, 1,500 rounds of cartridges, 15 pounds of coffee, 14 ounces of strychnine, 50 pounds of tent and complete outfit for winter. * * * There are seven men at the mouth of Little Horn—have 17 horses. * * * There is a large party of Indians going in the direction of Ft. Pease. Paul McCormick."

I have also a clipping from the Yellowstone. No, it is from the Daily Helena Herald of January 7th. "A well known Montanian killed by the Indians on the Yellowstone; * * * "was one of the most finely educated men of the west. An engineer by profession, student well versed in the classics, having an intimate knowledge of Greek, Hebrew and Latin." Then some by accident erased. It explains that he was "clerk of the court of the First judicial district of Montana."

"And with all the prestige any young man at his age could desire, he left all to better his fortune in the land of the savage, and the bright light was put out by the bullet of a Sioux." * * *

"Brave, generous boy; he saved one life and now his has been taken by the Sioux. Peace to his ashes." I produce this to show that it was simply the wild, reckless, ignorant, dare devil people that were here taking these chances. In fact, there were all kinds, as always are found on the border as elsewhere.

Owen Mason was also a U. S. deputy mineral surveyor. That same year, 1875, there was a Sioux war party of some 50 or 60 in number in the Shields river and Bozeman Pass country, but one man killed and some others wounded, I came as near being caught at that time as on any previous occasion; only a deep canyon and a sharp turn around a bluff that saved a companion and myself. I wrote an article which was published in, Avant Courier of Bozeman, and was copied by the Helena Herald, and probably others.

"The last raid of the Sioux to the Bozeman Pass.

* * * I had the acquaintance of such notable frontiersmen as Jas. Bridger. He was of the Shoshone tribe, having an Indian wife of that tribe; Jas. Beckworth, of the Crows (Mountain Crow), Kit Carson, of the Ute I think it was Bridger died as I think in St. Louis, Mo. Beckworth lived a number of years in Denver, Colo.

His love for the Indian life suited best and spent his last days with his tribe. Sacajawea was of the Shoshone tribe, the guide for Lewis and Clark, 1805-6. * * * Captain Clark of that famous expedition became a member of the Nez Perce. A granddaughter of his is yet living in the Bitter Root country. I was quite well acquainted with this Nez Perce Clark. Spent most of his life in the Bitter Root, and would go with his tribe on their annual hunts to the buffalo country. He was proud of his ancestry; would make display of his sandy locks, as he would explain "Me Clark" and the papers published it as if his name was "Me Clark." His right name, Tzi Kal Tzac.

Different Pacific tribes would band together, then join with the Mountain Crows, making a force that would stand off the Sioux and kill the latter's buffalo. While this formidable hunting party in 1875 were in the Sioux country, killing, preserving the (curing) meat and pelts, the usual Sioux war party came around them and made their annual raid to the Bozeman Pass.

My first acquaintance with "Me Clark" was in 1864, when I had taken a "ranch" on E. Gallatin. Hundreds of men, women and children, and hundreds of horses. This I suppose was their old camping ground; remain for weeks. Later I had my cattle range and ranch on Shields river and they would stop there for weeks. They, with the Crows (who were just across the Yellowstone) would have much sport, horse racing, and other sports. They moved down on the Yellowstone north side, within a mile or so north of the old Crow Agency; the Crows, a great bunch of them, came over with their fastest horses. I thought I might take a hand. I went down on the river bank where a Nez Perce was keeping his racer. I said to him, something like this: "How is it, is your horse going to win?" His answer was in as good English as I could have spoken it: "I don't know; he is a — good horse." I thought that would do to bet on. It was one tribe against the other. All the bets at stake were piled up in a pile, principally buffalo robes, but everything. Chief Long Horse of the Crows was anxious to make bets, and he had one of the finest and largest robes. I suggested that I would put up $10 (currency) against his robe on the Nez Perce; all right. I gave him the money to hold; he threw his robe in the pile. The race was made and was very exciting. Nez Perce outdistanced by all odds the Crow. Long Horse handed me the money and the robe. That was a dirty thing for me to do, but Indians are great gamblers. Lose every thing they have at times. Crows were the worst; would play all night, all day and the next night. The Mountain Crows would not drink and become drunken; would rot drink at all; were not religious; the River Crows were great drunkards, and far inferior to the Mountain Crow. The Nez Perce were religious; were Christian, and the worst drunkards imaginable; no, not all by any means addicted to the habit. The better class did all in their power to prevent it. * * * Their camps were policed as a military camp. One evening, it was after dark, I left my cabin and took a stroll to their camp to have a chat with Looking Glass, a chief. His brother, Chief Joseph, was at their reservation. The mother was with Looking Glass, going on their buffalo hunt; about the time I was to meet the guard, I was jumped onto by a big Indian, and he would, I think, pressed me to the ground but for the interference of others; there was half dozen in the mixup endeavoring to rescue me from the drunken Indian. It was rough usage I received. I at once caught onto the situation that they did not want the chief disturbed; not to let the chief know of it. I felt most thankful, a drunken Indian is liable to kill! I drank directly to Looking Glass' headquarters. I found them in a most solemn mood. The chief motioned me to be seated, and I attempted to start a conversation, but he motioned silence. It sat for probably half or three quarters of an hour and listened to the aged Indian woman. She was talking slow and earnest. I left while she was still talking. The chief gave me to understand that I was welcome, and with a word to someone outside I retired. I was accompanied by that party outside of the tepee to safety outside their lines.

The next morning I again visited their camp. Looking Glass was talking in a loud voice; no one in or about the camp, but could hear him most distinctly. I took it or, so understood that the old lady had given her sons the (Words of Wisdom) and he was repeating it to his people. Not a thing was being done; all was attention. After this ceremony I noticed that a grave was being dug. The spot was a high, dry spot, immediately outside their camp, which was in the "bottom," but a little above the stream, (Shields, so named by Lewis and Clark explorers) * * * one of their number had been killed in a drunken brawl.

The body was wrapped in the best of their wares, lowered, covered with sticks and bows, or limbs of

Will Interest Feeders.

In this space from week to week feeders of cattle and hogs, and for that matter of all farm animals, will find some very valuable matter. Charles Wood, who during twenty years has conducted many experiments in feeding, has reserved the space to tell the public generally about the method he has found the best.

Mr. Wood's plan for getting best results is by the use of his improved grain softener and of his recently invented stover rack and troughs. The two, used in conjunction, double the nutritive value in corn and produce results which are guaranteed.

The mere softening of the grain which was the first method used was found to furnish a food that was too rich and the syrup was also too thick. The method now adopted overcomes these difficulties and produces the desired results.

Here are the results which this method will produce and Mr. Wood is ready to guarantee the figures:

1 bushel of No. 2 corn will produce 20-lbs. pork; 12-lbs. beef.
1 bushel of No. 3 corn will produce 18-lbs. pork; 10-lbs. beef.
1 bushel of No. 4 corn will produce 16-lbs. pork; 9-lbs. beef.

Feeders will find the use of this method the surest way to make dollars. Watch this space for further facts on this subject.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear The Great-est of All Human Blessings.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, pre-natal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommend it. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write today to the Bradford Regulator Co., 130 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most instructive book on this greatest of all subjects, motherhood.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES A COLD—NO QUININE

"Pape's Cold Compound" Makes You Feel Fine at Once—Don't Stay Stuffed-up! Take it Now. Relief comes instantly.

A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, takes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—Adv.

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM.

George W. Koon, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful relief for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could not move and on Wednesday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast." Sold by J. P. Allott, druggist.—Adv.

STRUMPFER TALKS ABOUT BLOOD HOUNDS

Owner Says That Training of Dogs Is Very Essential—Refuses $1500 For One Canine.

The dogs of Mr. Strumpher are an interesting study. Mr. Strumpher says he doesn't breed them but buys them when two to three months old and trains them from three months till they are a year and half old. The work is very particular and must be done by an experienced person. The two he has are fine animals. One is an English bred dog, dark brown in color and good looking. He is but two years old and hasn't been long in the service.

The other is an imported Russian animal, ten years old, roan color, not especially handsome but Mr. Strumpher says he has refused $1,500 for him and has no price to name.

Naturally young dogs are trained with older ones and one of the things they must learn is to avoid pepper which some shrewd rascals scatter in their tracks. When a young dog gets a dose of it in his delicate nose he suffers considerable pain and when he has found out what it is water and glycerine he won't get it. If he needs a second lesson he gets it and that is generally enough for after that the moment he scents a particle of pepper he will throw his head in the air and run ahead to find the trail where the pepper gave out.

Dogs are taught not to be savage lest their attack on a fleeing man might cause him to kill them. They are taught to surround a man if he needs to be surrounded when they go they are harnessed and their master follows with a strap attached to the harness against which the dog pushes with his breast so as not to interfere with his breathing.

It is important that dogs be secured from a mother who was not kept in a kennel but permitted to roam over a large territory so that her progeny may not be delicate and weak. Dogs are generally worked in pairs for a number of reasons. For instance: if a man crosses a river two are needed, one to go up the stream on the opposite side and one to go down.

Good English hounds are worth from $300 to $500 a pair.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make it Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Lustrant and Remove Dandruff—Real Surprise For You.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandeline" hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandeline and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandeline dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandeline from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.—Adv.

trees; a song was sung, or shanted as they marched around the grave, a half and tingling of a bell, again as they marched around the grave, a handful of dirt by each and every individual would be gathered up and cast in the grave with some words; it might have been interpreted, "Earth to earth, and dust to dust, etc." And I wondered. Where did they get this? Then it came to me of the friendly relations with the Lewis and Clark party, and again of Major Bonneville and his friendly relations with them—1832; he forgot that he was a U. S. officer of the regulars. Remained so long that was placed, as dead, lost or stolen. Most likely Bonneville was a Catholic, any way the "Black Robes" have long been missionaries among the Aborigines. * * * My last meeting was as they were coming up from their hunt. He had received a hurry message from his brother, Joseph, that there was trouble. * * * I met him with his interpreter, Frank; we shook hands and his man told me of the disturbed relations in their country and that it made his heart sick to think of the prospect of war with the white settlers. There was another case of injustice to the Indians. He was killed in the last battle. * * *

I have attended funerals of the Crow and Sioux; altogether different from the one I have related, and yet as impressive. I attended and witnessed the obsequies of a young Sioux maiden some 54 years ago. (Left Jacksonville 1855—this year) and in a country, high up on the North Platte, where the Sioux were as wild as they were in the days of the exploration of Coronado more than 300 years ago. It was a very solemn and impressive ceremony.

Respectfully,
J. M. Lindley.

We find in "A History of Montana," by Helen Fitzgerald Sanders, Page 245, Vol. 2:
The experience of Mr. Lindley as a pioneer, frontier pioneer and plainsman, in point of danger, hardships and excitement, is seldom equalled in the annals of early western life. In 1882 he platted a subdivision in Bozeman, known as Lindley and Guy addition, through which the finest residence street in the city, Lindley Place, passes. * * * Married in Janesville, 1st day of January, 1882, to the widow of Capt. H. C. Miles. She was a native of Vernon, Ind., and her father was the step-father of Mr. Lindley. * * * He was also prominent in the formation of that noble society, Pioneers of Gallatin county, of which he was secretary-treasurer. In 1896-7 and 1898, president, 1899 to 1900, then elected secretary two succeeding years.

He has devoted much time in the interests of this organization, which is preserving for posterity a record of the lives and activities of these courageous men who made the settlement of this section possible. He was a member of the first city council, after the first city election; was the first president of the Bozeman Chronicle Publishing company, and his name has been associated, in some capacity or another, with every enterprise or movement which has promised to be of benefit to the community. In all the walks of life he has gained and maintained a spotless reputation, and no man is held in higher esteem in the Gallatin valley.

Isn't that putting it strong though? Yes, strong for one who has thrice been incarcerated in the old unsanitary jail of Gallatin county.

First time I was taken to jail was on the charge of insanity. (Kept there a week before trial). The complaining witness (Under cross examination) was asked: "Do you really think Mr. Lindley insane?"

Answer: "Not so much of his sanity as his character."

Question: "His character is bad, is it?"

Answer: "Very bad."

But that man has made millions. * * * It seemed that Lindley was the only man in the community to stand for the rights of himself and the community. * * *

Col. Richard Callaway, partner of Daniel Boone, was great-great uncle of Jas. Edmond Callaway, who was born in Krigg county, Kentucky, on July 7th, 1835. Dr. Samuel Taylor Callaway and his wife, Mary Hamilton Means Callaway; 13 years later family moved to Illinois. Quoting from Montana history: "His subsequent years were spent in the vicinity of Jacksonville and in Tuscola, Ill.—of the academy at Jacksonville (Probably Berean college) and Tuscola, and later of Eureka college, "until in 1905, the Great Commander offered honorable discharge."

"For nearly forty years he had lived with his wife, Mary E. Link Callaway, whom he had married at Paris, Ill., on Jan. 16th, 1866. * * * Mrs. C. still resides in Virginia City, Montana."

The last man killed in the Virginia Gallatin was possibly about 1869, by the Indians. He was from Wisconsin, and a veteran of the civil war. Last in this county James Hughes, 1875.

Last man killed by Indians in Jennings county, something over 100 years ago, and his name McDonald, a Scotchman. * * *

I am historian for our G. A. R. Post. Among our charter members and were present at that time, Col. W. F. Sanders (of Helena) afterwards U. S. senator. Gen. John C. Cern, who has the distinction of receiving the surrender of Atlanta, Ga. Col. Callaway was the presiding officer. * * *

You will find my name in the minutes and proceedings of the 37th annual reunion of the 21st Regt. Ill., Springfield, Ill., July 3rd and 4th, 1911. Looking at that I note I had some correspondence with Hon. Jos. M. Dixon. This is the man who is shown in the clipping as standing by the grand daughter of Clark, the explorer.

YOUNG SWANS AT PARK DEAD.
Frequenters of Nichols Park will regret to learn that two young swans which Custodian Kelly has been rearing so carefully are dead. Mr. Kelly says he has no idea what was the matter as the older ones seem to be in perfect health. He hopes to raise some more the coming season and have better success with them.

TAFT VISITS CANADA.

MI-O-NA FIRST AID TO SICK STOMACH

Distress after eating, belching of gas and undigested food, that lump of lead feeling in the stomach, headache, biliousness and lack of energy, are warning signals. Now—at once—is the time to take precaution and stop this distress.

MI-o-na Stomach Tablets is the remedy. Get a fifty cent box today. Their action is safe, effective and immediate. Besides surely and quickly stopping the distress, MI-o-na soothes the irritated walls of the stomach and strengthens the gastric glands so that they pour out their daily supply of digestive materials, causing prompt digestion and assimilation of the food. Then the entire system is properly nourished.

MI-o-na is not an experiment. It is not a cure all. It is a scientific remedy recommended for but one thing—out-of-order stomachs. Always have MI-o-na handy at home or traveling.

MI-o-na is always sold on the money back if not benefited plan. Druggists everywhere.—Adv.

RHEUMA WILL STOP URIC ACID DEPOSITS

Rheumatic Complications Checked and the "Human Sewers" Restored.

The Kidneys, Bowels and Skin are the "human sewers" which carry off the impurities in the blood. When these are clogged Uric Acid settles in the muscles and joints and Rheumatism follows.

RHEUMA, the great enemy for all forms of the terrible disease, checks the deposit of Uric Acid.

"I suffered from rheumatism for six years. Tried different doctors, with no relief. I have taken three bottles of RHEUMA and am entirely free from the disease."—P. W. Miller, Catawissa, Pa. Your money will be returned if it fails; 50 cents a bottle. For sale by all druggists—adv.

WHAT IS OLD AGE?

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

Old age is not marked by years, but by stiffened frame, the hardened tissues and arteries.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying, "I can't do this, and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to get old, when your energy begins to fail build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strengthener.

H. C. Klyce of Corinth, Miss., says: "I am 75 years old and my blood was very poor. I was in a rundown condition and felt that I must have a tonic. Vinol was recommended and it built up my strength until I felt as strong and well as ever."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. Lee P. Allcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

ONE THOUSAND UNION COAL

[MINERS STRIKE AT FT. SMITH]

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 29.—One thousand union coal miners employed by the Central Coal and Coke company of Kansas City, Mo., at Hartford, Huntington & Bonanza near here went on a strike today.

The union alleges the company refused to abide by the decision of the district arbitrator who found in favor of four men who claimed they were not given work at a mine at Hartford, although entitled to employment.

WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—After two days of conferences with political leaders Thomas Taggart, Indiana's member of the Democratic national committee issued a formal statement tonight that he would not be a candidate for the United States senate. In his statement Mr. Taggart says that he will support Senator Shively for re-election.

DENVER HOST TO Y. M. C. A.

Denver, Jan. 29.—Denver is entertaining during the remainder of this week the annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Colorado. Delegates representing the branch organizations throughout the state were on hand at the opening of the proceedings today.

SPECIAL EFFORT ON BEHALF OF MISSIONS

Noted Men to be Here Sunday and Monday—Large Plans Made by Leaders.

Among the noted visitors to be here Sunday and Monday is President A. J. Bowen of Nanking university. He will be heard with no small interest.

Special attention is called to the banquet for men at Grace church Monday evening. All who can do so should enroll and notify the proper persons at once.

Another welcome and entertaining visitor will be Handford Crawford, who until recently filled an important place in the business world.

HANFORD CRAWFORD.

Born in New York. Graduate of College of the City of New York. Class 1875. Studied at Leipzig and Berlin, Germany, and Geneva, Switzerland, three years. In retail dry goods business New York City until 1899, and then moved to St. Louis and became associated with Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Company, of which he was president until his retirement from active business, 1911. Since that time he has made two trips around the world. Member of the Methodist-Episcopal church. President Y. M. C. A., St. Louis.

An Appeal for Prayer.

The Home and Foreign Missionary Leaders of the United States and Canada have decided to engage this winter in the most extensive and important piece of co-operative work which they have ever undertaken. The object in view is to enlist a far larger number of church members as intelligent missionary workers, supporters and intercessors. Of the more than twenty millions of Protestants church members in North America, less than one-half of them are doing anything or giving anything to meet the missionary needs either at home or abroad.

In addition to aggressive educational plans to be carried forward within the various denominations, there will be several hundred two-day Missionary Conferences held throughout the United States and Canada. More than twenty teams of experienced speakers are already organized for the efficient conduct of these Conferences.

This extensive campaign is planned to lead up to a simultaneous personal canvass in March, 1914, for all missionary purposes, on the part of all the churches, of all denominations so far as they can be led to undertake it. More than two hundred speakers will participate in the educational campaign. Probably hundreds of thousands of men will assist in the simultaneous canvass for missionary subscriptions. The entire effort should mean a marked quickening of the spiritual life of many thousands of churches, resulting in greatly increased Christian activity and liberality.

In view of the vast issues involved, the Executive Committee of the United Missionary Campaign appeals to Christian people everywhere to join in frequent prayer for God's clear guidance and manifested presence and power in connection with the entire undertaking.

HENRY CRAZY FOR LIQUOR.

The claim was freely made in Woodson Wednesday that J. H. Henry, not his H. H. in Jacksonville, the Mayor he used on the "crazy" night when he took three lives. It is fair to call attention to the statement of Dr. Willerton who says that Henry came to his place about two in the afternoon and begged for a drink. The doctor told him there was none in his place. The latter replied that he had tried all over the city and failed and said he wished he had kept on the train up to Bloomington. He said he was crazy for a drink and must have it. He remained in Dr. Willerton's office till twenty minutes of four and had barely time to reach the Alton station in time to get the train for home and could not have secured any drink in this city after that.

JERSEY FARMERS IN SESSION.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 29.—The New Jersey state board of agriculture began its 41st annual meeting here today with a large attendance. Rural taxes and highway improvements are scheduled for discussion during the two days' session. In addition to practical farming topics, Joseph S. Prelinghussen of Somerville, president of the organization, delivered his annual address this afternoon.

ATTENDING SURVEYORS.

M. C. Paulson of the Caldwell Engineering Company, is in Peoria attending a meeting of the Illinois Society of Engineers and Surveyors. The sessions are being held at the Jefferson Hotel.

NEWS NOTES OF THE FARM

In Annual Convention.—Members of the Illinois Dairyman's Association are holding their fortieth annual convention at Freeport this week. Peoria and Rockford are seeking the next convention.

Homer Farm Transfer.—The John A. Smith farm of 160 acres, south of Homer, has been purchased by Robert Smith for $200 per acre. Robert Smith sold his farm of 76 acres in Lost Grove vicinity, (southwest of Homer, at $230 per acre.

Ohio Farmers Interested.—Interest in the annual Ohio Farmers' roundup, of Farmers' Week, which is to be held at Ohio State university during the week of February 2, is state wide. In addition to the extensive program of lectures and demonstrations for the men, there will be an equally attractive Home Makers' school for the women who attend.

Many Attend Short Course.—The agricultural short course at Urbana has reached the attendance of over 1,500, which is 200 more than ever attended before. They are still coming in each day and some are beginning to leave. The talk is all praise with the exception that there are so many good things to go to, that it wears the very best out. Every minute of the two weeks has been full and most minutes several things were going on at the same time.

Must Coat Inside of Silo.—The field men of the dairy farming investigations of the United States department of agriculture have lately been examining methods of treating concrete silos to prevent the silage near the walls from drying out and to check the action of the silage juice on the concrete. They have found that the two points just noted constitute the chief objections to concrete silos, but that these may be largely, if not entirely, overcome by giving the inside of the silo a coating of raw coal tar thinned with gasoline sufficiently to make it spread well. This makes the structure practically air tight and not only keeps the silage from spoiling, but protects the concrete from the action of the silage juice.

The Most Valuable of All Arts.—No other human occupation opens so wide a field for the profitable and agreeable combination of labor with cultivated thought, as agriculture.

Population must increase rapidly, more rapidly than in former times, and ere long the most valuable of all arts will be the art of deriving subsistence from the smallest area of soil. No community whose every member possesses this art, can ever be the victim of oppression in any of its forms. Such community will alike be independent of crowned kings. From Abraham Lincoln's address at Milwaukee before the State Agricultural society of Wisconsin, September 20, 1859.

Agriculture Part of Teacher's Examination.—Nineteen states have requiring teachers to take an examination in agriculture before certificates to teach are granted. This has served to stimulate interest greatly in agricultural studies, and numerous colleges and preparatory schools are now in shape to give instruction along agricultural lines. In this connection it is worth while noting that the department of agriculture at Washington has arranged a series of agricultural reading courses which aim to inform teachers and others along a number of interesting and practical lines. A request sent to the department at Washington will secure the outlines and the bulletins whose reading is recommended.

Stirs Commission to Action.—An alarming record of horse fatalities in the state of Illinois during the last two months, has resulted in a loss to farmers and breeders. The loss of life has stirred the state live stock commission to act on. Hundreds of animals have died, according to the commission, owing to ignorance or lack of precaution manifested by farmers and breeders. The loss of life still continues, but a check is anticipated with the campaign of enlightenment which now has been started by the state live stock board and state veterinarians. The deaths among the horses are due in almost every case to the eating by the animals of fungus growth on the corn stalks standing in the fields. The growth is caused by the unusually dry seasons last summer and fall. All that is necessary to save the horses is to keep them out of the stalk fields and to shell corn from moldy cobs before feeding it.

$60,000 Farm Sale.—A real estate deal was closed a few days ago whereby the Byron R. Burke farm of 290 acres, located three miles east of Bloomington, was sold by the Burke heirs to Mr. Frederick Schroeder, who resides a short distance east of the Burke place for $300 per acre, or a total consideration of $60,000. This is probably the record price for McLean county land, when the distance from the city and the number of acres is considered. This is one of the best improved farms in the central part of the state, there being a substantial farm house, large barn, numerous cattle sheds, machine sheds, etc., on it. It has been the homestead of the Burke family for about a half century and the improvements on the land were placed there by Samuel W. Burke.

Mr. Schroeder expects to take possession of the place March 1 and will make it his home. He is the owner of 160 acres of land a short distance east of his new farm. Although those who are intimate with farming conditions and land interest generally have long since asserted that McLean county land has about reached the top notch in price, it is steadily advancing.

FEDERALS WILL CONTINUE RAIDS ON MAJOR LEAGUES

Unless New Circuit is Received into Fold of Organized Baseball Raids on Players Will be Kept Up.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—[War between the Federal League and organized baseball will continue until the latter receives the new circuit into its fold, according to Secretary Lloyd Rickart of the Federals. Rickart said today that the Federals would continue next year their raids on the players as now with organized ball whose contracts expire at the end of this season.

There are enough of these to cripple the big leagues more seriously than the present raid if they jump, said the secretary while the Federal League believes itself safe from counter raids because its recently acquired stars are under contracts mainly for three years.

The situation at the end of the season will be such as to force recognition from the American and National leagues and as a third big league the Federal will operate on equal terms with the others in 1915, its promoters believe.

Manager Evers of the Chicago Nationals, who reported at headquarters today after a tour of the south, announced that a three game series between the Cubs and the St. Louis Americans would take place at Tampa March 4th, 5th and 6th, with a return engagement at St. Petersburg, Fla., later.

Yale's Football Schedule.—New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29.—Yale's football schedule for next fall announced today contains nine games—one less than last year. Holy Cross and Lafayette have been dropped and in their places will be University of Virginia and Notre Dame. With the exception of the game with Princeton at Princeton, all the games will be played in New Haven.

Confers With Doc Johnston.—Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 29.—Howard Doyle, scout of the Cleveland Americans arrived here today to confer with First Baseman Doc Johnston in an effort to prevent his accepting an offer from the Federal League.

Bedient Signs Contract.—Boston, Jan. 29.—Hugh Bedient, a Red Sox pitcher of the past two seasons sent his signed contract to the Boston club today.

DUNNE GRANTS PARDON.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—Upon recommendation of the trial judge prosecuting attorney and the complaining witness, Governor Dunne today granted a pardon to Elizabeth Kelley of Chicago sent to the house of correction for six months for larceny.

For work done on the public highways the governor commuted the sentence of James Cahill to expire tomorrow. Cahill was sentenced from Peoria for robbery.

10 CENT "CASCARETS"

STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Sick Headache, Bileous Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Get a 10 cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

"TIZ" PUTS JOY IN SORE, ACHING FEET

"My, how 'TIZ' Gladdens Tired, Swollen, Sweaty Feet—It's Glorious!"

LOCATES AT ROCK ISLAND.

E. O. Turner, formerly manager of the Illinois Telephone Company
in this city and until recently manager of the plant of the White Hall Ice Company, has become associated with the Tri-City Telephone Company at Rock Island. Mr. Turner took a temporary position with the company last December and recently decided to accept a permanent place.
For the present Mr. Turner's family will remain in White Hall.

The Tri-City Automatic Telephone Company was only recently organized after battling two years for its franchises. The wires will be underground and the complete system will be one of the best equipped in the country. Mr. Turner's duties will be varied until the completion of the plant, when he will be in line for one of the best positions the company has to offer.

WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

STOCK MARKET GIVES WAY UNDER STEADY PRESSURE OF TRADE

Reading and Steel Are Singled Out for Bear Attacks—Trading Element Is Ranged on the Short Side.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The stock market gave way today under pressure which although not severe, was applied steadily by professional operators. Reading and steel were singled out for bear attacks and, together with New Haven, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Smelting
and a few other issues at times
showed losses of a point or more.
The trading element was ranged on the short side. In fact speculative opinion for several days has inclined to the belief that a substantial reaction was due, as a natural sequence to the recent advance but outside buying has continued in sufficient volume to retard the movement. Denial that Reading was contemplating segregation of its coal properties which might have bestowed valuable rights upon shareholders accelerated the decline in that stock.

Southern Pacific's December statement was exceptionally poor, showing a decline in net of $579,000. Another disturbing feature was the decline of low priced stocks, some of which have been strong recently.
Rumors were acutely weak.
The common dropped 3% to 11% and the preferred 6% to 28%, both new low records.

Both London and the continent
were in the market for stocks taking 40,000 or more shares on balance. Improvement in sentiment abroad was associated with reduction of the English and French bank rates. Such an unusual change as a drop of 1 per cent in the English rate ordinarily would be expected to find immediate reflection here, but even such striking evidence of improving monetary conditions was ineffective, in view of the prevailing tenor of speculative sentiment.

MAKING POOR EYESIGHT GOOD EYESIGHT

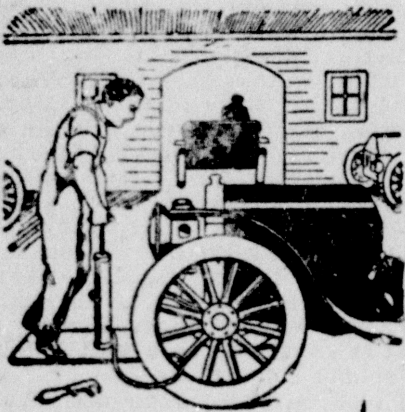

You may have excellent vision, and be able to read the smallest type without glasses, but if you have difficulty in discerning objects which your friends see clearly—you certainly need glasses to clear that vision.

But there's no single method of testing, not one instrument that will give us an infallible diagnosis of your trouble—that's why we study and test each case individually upon its merits.

Your satisfaction depends upon our skill and with the glasses we recommend, your eye-sight troubles are certain to be ended for well and good.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., REACHED HIS FORTIETH BIRTHDAY THURSDAY

Though Possessed of Great Wealth He Devotes His Time Largely to Education and Religious Affairs.

New York, Jan. 29.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., reached his 40th birthday anniversary today, having been born January 29, 1874. There was no ostentatious celebration of the anniversary at the Rockefeller home. Surrounded by the members of his family, Mr. Rockefeller passed the day with little variance from his customary routine. Presents and messages of good wishes were received from relatives and intimate friends.

If he lives, and he is in the best of health now, young Rockefeller will some day undoubtedly be one of the richest men in the world. As the only son and principal heir of John D. Rockefeller he will inherit the bulk of the colossal fortune which the latter has accumulated in the oil business, in coal, iron and copper mines, in railroad and steamship lines and in almost countless other industries. The extent of the fortune can only be roughly estimated. The owner himself is reported to have said that he could not estimate his wealth within ten or fifteen million dollars.

And yet the heir to this vast wealth is scarcely known to the general public. From time to time, mainly because of his activities in connection with the Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, his name has appeared in public prints, but he has attracted far less attention than most men of his prominence.

The Standard Oil magnate had already laid the foundation for his wealth when his son was born. Of the boy's early days little is known, except to members of his immediate family. He was educated by private tutors and then was sent to Brown university. This university was chosen, it is said, to keep him from the temptations of larger colleges. At Brown the young man was known as a hard student, but not as a recluse. He was fond of swimming and skating and manager of the football team. He was not over robust at that time and this fact probably kept him from active participation in the more strenuous sports.

Soon after leaving college he entered the offices of the Standard Oil company in this city, and for years thereafter he worked as hard as any of the clerks. Here he gained practical experience in many phases of business and finance, and soon became a sharer of his father's business burdens. He astonished Wall street in 1900 by engineering a deal in United States Leather, whereby he is credited with making $1,000,000. Following this he directed a copper and transportation deal which largely advanced freight rates and gave the Rockefellers control of the shipping of the great lakes. He became a director in many of the great corporations in which his father was interested.

The private life of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is as correct as his father's has been. He has never smoked or drunk, or indulged in any weakening dissipation. He has the same implicit faith in the Christian religion, as taught and practiced in the Baptist church, that has distinguished his father. He cares little for society, outside of the church, although he does not ignore it altogether. He is fond of music and loves to fiddle. He plays the violin very well and it is one of his chief solaces. He is devoted to his family, but his great passions are his church work and the making of money.

Although keenly interested in the great educational and philanthropic projects fostered and financed by his father, young Rockefeller has been very little identified with public affairs. In 1901 he was one of the committee of thirty-six to arbitrate labor disputes appointed by the National Civic Federation. In 1908 he was foreman of a grand jury, and again, a year or so later, he was made foreman of the grand jury appointed to inquire into the "white slave" traffic. In this capacity he did work which brought forth many commendations from fellow jurors and from officials with whom he was in contact.

Mr. Rockefeller was married in 1901 to Abby Greene Aldrich, daughter of Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island. They have had five children, the eldest being a daughter who was named for her mother, born Nov. 9, 1902. The next child is a son, born March 22, 1906, and named for his father and grandfather, John D. Rockefeller, III. The third child was another son, named for his maternal grandfather, Nelson Rockefeller. A third son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller in 1910, and a fourth in 1912.

The marriage of Mr. Rockefeller and Miss Aldrich in Providence was one of the events of the season. One thousand people were present and the gifts were valued at $700,000. In deference to Mr. Rockefeller's opinion on the liquor question, wine was barred at the wedding feast.

NAME HULL CANDIDATE.

Davenport, Iowa, Jan. 29.—The second Iowa district Republican congressional committee this afternoon named Harry Hull of Williamsburg as the Republican candidate for congress in the election to be held Feb. 10.

Mr. Hull is to fill the vacancy caused by the refusal of William E. Hays, of Clinton, to accept the nomination tendered him by the recent Republican district convention. The election is for the purpose of choosing a successor to the late Representative I. S. Pepper.

JOLIET MAN SUICIDES.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 29.—George Alexander Bruce, brother-in-law of John B. Mount, former mayor of Joliet, committed suicide today by swallowing poison in St. Joseph's hospital where he had been a patient for several weeks. Bruce was suffering from mental trouble.

Leading teams with but few exceptions, played true to form last week and won their games with ease. The real feature of the week was Canton's victory over Abingdon by the score of 23 to 12. When it is considered that Abingdon is the only team which has defeated Galesburg out of five strong teams met this season, Canton's decisive victory is a triumph indeed. The reversal of form in the Canton quintet can hardly be accounted for unless the team has suddenly hit its stride. It had previously lost to Peoria Manual, Peoria Central and Galesburg, and yet turns around and beats a team which on the basis of comparative scores is equal if not superior to any of these crack quintets.

Tournaments are Tricky.
All of which proves the old saw: "Don't count 'em yet." The champion is never crowned till he breaks the tape or the whistle blows, and those teams in their respective districts which think they already have the laurels clinched to play it out at top speed. Tournaments are tricky creatures and the best team physically, not mentally, does not always win.

A good illustration of the above point can be seen in the Rockford-Belvidere game of last Friday night, won by Rockford, 32 to 23. The experienced, veteran team of Belvidere had no business to lose this game. Rockford has a team composed of entirely new players and last year's substitutes. Belvidere has practically the same team which stood above nearly all the teams in the northern part of the state last year. Press reports say its team work is perfect this year, yet the snarling little Rockford boys managed by pure grit to defeat their more formidable opponent. Belvidere went to Rockford flush from a 68 to 26 victory over DeKalb, a team rated above Rockford, and they lost, not a better team physically, but because they let down.

Rockford, by the way, went over to Sycamore the next night and lost, 31 to 21, to a team not considered superior to Belvidere.

An expected result, but one worth mentioning, was the defeat of Lexington by University High, 47 to 33. Early in the season University High was an easy victim for Lexington, but since the Normal boys hit their stride every strong team they have met has been beaten easily. But Lexington will be strong in the tournament.

Record of Peoria Teams.

Peoria Central beat Decatur Friday last, 27 to 20, but it was Decatur's game until the last two minutes. The crippling of Devore when a Peoria player tripped him won the game for Central. The wonderful guarding of Buck of Peoria, and his ability to cage baskets marks him already a favorite for the critics who will later select all-state teams. Peoria Central has only one defeat to its credit, that of Bloomington, and will hardly have any trouble winning the championship in its division.

On the other hand, Peoria Manual, a team made up of three of last year's stars which placed second in the state tournament, has hit the toboggan right, having lost five games in a row. Doering and Werner, last year of all state calibre, are showing little class this year. Unless mighty changes have been made this week, University High will give Manual a trouncing right tonight. No team can live off of last year's reputation.

University High of Carbondale, where the southern tournament is to be held, was victor, 23 to 15 over Murphysboro. Coach F. G. Warren had to build his team from the ground up and promises to have a fair contender by tournament time. Granite City is another team composed of fair players and is probably second only to Centralia in this district. But word from that town declares that every member of the team smokes and, of course, nobody is particularly afraid of any team whose members dissipate.

Shelbyville had its easiest victory of the season, vanquishing Vandalia, 57 to 15. Hillsboro won from Litchfield, 29 to 9. Charleston has an open date and played the alumni, winning, 38 to 27. The Charleston seconds trimmed Tuscola High, 37 to 11.

Gibson City Strong.

Going back to the central division, a small town team is found at Gibson City in Drummer Township High, which has won eight games and lost none. Nearly all the games have resulted in one-sided scores, and Drummer High is now anxious to meet some of the larger teams.

confident of its ability to make it interesting. Drummer High beat Urbana recently, 59 to 7; Maroa, 86 to 4; and Monticello, 24 to 9. It finished next to Peoria Central in last year's district tournament.

Important Game Saturday.

One of the most important games in the state will be played Saturday night at Springfield, when Bloomington meets the capital city team. So far Springfield has not met any of the dangerous teams and the Bloomington game will tell whether Coach Merriman's boys are to be considered for state honors. Jacksonville was given a bad beating last week by Springfield, 49 to 18. Springfield is expected to enter the district tournament at Jacksonville and win it with ease.

Galesburg's victory, 35 to 28, over Monmouth last week was a hard blow for the Monmouth rooters, who are backing their team to win the honors in that division. It was a spectacular and hard earned victory, however, and the next time they meet may result in a different story. Rock Island, another fair contender in this section, had an easy victory, 62 to 18, over Alexis. Moline was defeated by Muscatine, Ia., but the Plow town boys are expected to show class when it meets the other teams in this district.

In Southern District.

In the southern district, Centralia won its fourteenth victory, beating Anna, 62 to 11. Mt. Vernon lost to DuQuoin by one point on DuQuoin's little floor. Coach Floyd Stables of the Centralia team has six men on his squad over six feet tall and not a one of them clumsy in handling the ball. His team has defeated Shelbyville twice, and as Shelbyville has a record second to none in the eastern district, the upstate teams who expect to go into the finals can begin right now to figure out an offense or defense that will beat Centralia.

Joliet continued its winning record by defeating Chicago Heights Friday night and Lexington Saturday night. Joliet is figuring on winning the tournament at Elgin by a large margin. Elgin, however, has a strong team, winning against from East Aurora last Friday, 21 to 10.

Danville's Clean Record.

Danville's clean record assures that team of a high place in the tournament at Charleston. However, it has been meeting only good second class teams and a true line on the worth of the quintet from Uncle Joe's town can not yet be obtained. It will have to play classy ball to beat out Paris, Shelbyville, Hillsboro, Charleston or Arthur.

Pontiac's decisive victory, 40 to 29, over the Normal team gives that team the edge on most of the teams in its circle.

Sterling to Clean Up.

Word was sent out from Sterling this week that its team expected to clean up in the Rockford tournament. Freeport, however, with all its veterans back and a string of victories to its credit, contests this statement. With these two teams, Belvidere, Dixon, Rockford, DeKalb, Sycamore and several others of near like calibre, a stirring tournament may be expected.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. WILLIAMS GIVEN HAPPY SURPRISE

Occasion was Their Thirty-Third Wedding Anniversary—List of Guests Present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams were happily surprised recently when about forty of their neighbors and friends came in to spend the evening with them in honor of their thirty-third wedding anniversary. The affair was gotten up on such short order that nothing of the kind was in the least suspected. The crowd assembled at Irvin Coulson's and went in a body to the Williams home. Their presence was not known until they began pouring in at the doors, to the complete surprise of those in whose honor the affair was given.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing music and games of different kinds and in visiting. A number brought milk and as oysters had been provided for it was not long before a large kettle of soup was ready to serve. After all had partaken thereof they departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Williams many more happy anniversaries.

Those present were Mrs. Ada Funk and daughter, to; Mrs. J. B. Holliday and sons, Charles and Frank; and Miss Elsie Moody of Chapin; Mrs. S. C. Taylor and sons, Charles A. and John; John Drake, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor, Mrs. Emma Edmondson, Riley Taylor, Alfred Anderson and family, T. H. Stone and family, Miss Bertha Nieman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nergenah and son, Harold; Mr. and Mrs. George Coulson and daughter, Noda; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hutches; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hitches and daughter, Ruth; Mrs. George Van Gundy and son, Roy; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Coulson, Joseph Stone, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams and daughter.

MCGRAW IN EDISON TALKING PICTURES

John J. McGraw, the most picturesque personality in the baseball world is now appearing in Edison Talking Pictures. The Napoleon leader of the New York Giants stole a few moments from a busy life just before the World's series to prepare a sketch which only a McGraw could originate. He is first seen in the locker room at the Polo Grounds where his quick, decisive manner of speech is indicative of the nature of the man.

Out of a fund of experience unequalled by any other man in the baseball profession, McGraw has chosen several extremely funny incidents which he relates with the effectiveness of the trained theatrical buffoon. One of his stories concerns a budding hero of the diamond who, when told to go into right field, asked McGraw which one it was, explaining that he was a stranger in New York.

The fact that McGraw is now on his world tour gives added interest to his appearance on the screen at the Grand today and tomorrow. Matinee daily.

NO DECISIVE GAMES SCHEDULED

ILLINOIS WILL PLAY CARTRIDGE TOMORROW.

Augustana and Wesleyan Have Clean Slates Thus Far, With Former School Stronger—Hedding Thrice Defeated.

Tonight's Games.
William & Vashti at Milihin. Lincoln at Normal.
Augustana at DeKalb Normal. Bradley, open date.
Saturday.
William & Vashti at Wesleyan. Illinois College at Carthage.
Tuesday, Feb. 2.
Lincoln at Eureka.

If the minor conference college tournament were to be held this week instead of the first week in March, Augustana and Wesleyan would go into it neck and neck favorites for first place. Those two teams haven't lost a game and don't seem likely too soon, at least not this week.

On the basis of comparative scores the big Swedish team from Rock Island looks stronger than Muhl's Methodists, and that's saying a good deal, for if Illinois Wesleyan does not win that shield this year it will be a good while before they do. Muhl has the two best forwards in the conference, taken in pairs. In Young and Elliott, a cracking good center and a couple of good guards. Little is known here of the Augustana team individually, but its decisive victories over W. & V. and Bradley, the latter 30 to 16, prove that it is a team of sterling worth.

Hard Sledding for W. & V.
The weak William & Vashti team has a hard week scheduled. It left Abingdon Thursday morning to play Lincoln that night with little hope of winning any of its three games, at least not more than one. Lincoln defeated the W. & V. players last night 39 to 7, and expected to be defeated badly tonight by Milihin and by Wesleyan Saturday night. Bradley won from W. & V. last Friday night, 25 to 19, on the Alledo floor.

Milihin suffered another defeat last week losing to Wesleyan, 36 to 19, on the Bloomington floor. The weight and experience of the Methodists were too much for Asimore's team this time. But no tournament is won till the final crack of the pistol and Asimore is wily enough to perfect an offense and defense in the next five weeks that will worry all comers.

Hedding Had Bad Week.
Lincoln, Illinois College and Normal each took a fall out of Hedding last week, despite the stellar work of Captain Young of Hedding, easily one of the best guards in the conference, it not the best. Illinois Colleges should have an easy victory over Carthage tomorrow.
No decisive games are scheduled for this week, but next week should furnish some excitement.

Pretty Home Ceremony Took Place at Residence of Bride's Mother—Young People Will Make Their Home at Lone Pine, Calif.

A pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mrs. S. B. Gray, 1039 West College avenue, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when Miss Lucy Gray was united in marriage to Mr. John C. Anton, Jr., of Lone Pine, Calif. The Rev. Clyde Darsie, pastor of the Christian church officiated, making use of the double ring ceremony.

The parlor of the Gray home was tastefully decorated for the occasion in white and green. The young people made their appearance while the wedding march was played by Miss Ruth Ogile. The ceremony was said in front of a large bank of ferns. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses and the bridesmaid, Miss Susan Sage, a large cluster of red daisy beauties.

Mrs. S. B. Gray, mother of the bride, was matron of honor and little Marjorie Compton of New York city was ring bearer. George Vasconcellos acted as best man. The bride was given away by Dr. Bartlett S. Gray of Geneseo, Ill., a brother of the bride. The bride wore a gown of white lace over white crepe de chene and the bridesmaid was attired in a creation of light blue crepe de chene.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room where an elaborate three course luncheon was served. The bride was the recipient of a large number of useful and beautiful presents.

Among the guests from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett S. Gray of Geneseo, Mrs. A. W. Compton and daughters Thelma and Marjorie of New York city, Miss Elsie Franke of St. Louis and Mrs. Effie McMurphy of Sinclair. Miss Franke favored the company with two vocal solos immediately after the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. B. Gray of this city and was born and reared in Jacksonville. She attended the schools of the city and went later to Oxford, O., where she attended the Oxford college for women. She finished her work in the Illinois Woman's college, Jacksonville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anton, Sr., of Lone Pine, Inyo county, California, and was graduated from the California military academy at Santa Monica and Healds college at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton will reside on the groom's ranch two miles from Lone Pine and will be at home to their friends after March 15. They will leave this morning on the 6:30 to the Chicago & Alton for St. Louis from where they will go to New Orleans and thence to Los Angeles before arriving at their home in Lone Pine.

Paper by C. H. Russell Describes "Evolution of the Timepiece"—Begins Series of Literary Evenings at Library.

The history of devices for keeping time was the theme of C. H. Russell Tuesday evening who read an interesting paper at the public library on the "Evolution of the Timepiece" as the first number of the series of literary evenings arranged by the librarian for the next three months. Mr. Russell traced the growth of time-keeping devices from the simple sun dial of the Chaldeans to the complex clock of modern astronomical observatory and outlined the successive improvements in the development of the clock and watch. The lecture was well attended and the interest shown Tuesday promises well for the library series just beginning. "An Evening with Fascinating Books" will be the subject of the entertainment next Tuesday when short reviews of note-worthy volumes will be given by Miss Cowgill of the Woman's college, Miss Anne W. Jackson, Mrs. A. L. Adams and Miss Marie Scott.

"In the earliest periods of human existence," said Mr. Russell in beginning, "man had little use of any device for the measurement of time except the recurrence of day and night. His life was simple; his wants were few. He literally lived from day to day. The idea of dividing one of those days into fractions would probably have seemed a useless notion to him as the idea of dividing a nickel into pennies seemed to us in the west a few years ago."

Life soon became more complex and time keeping instruments were invented of which the first were the sun dial and the clepsydra or water clock. The latter device was used from remote antiquity in China, India, Chaldea and Egypt. It was introduced into Greece by Plato. It was found in use in Britain by Julius Caesar who observed by its use that the English nights were longer than those in Italy. The sun dial was employed by the ancient Hebrews and Chaldeans and consisted of a hollow hemisphere with its rim perfectly horizontal and having a bead fixed in the center. "So long as the sun remained above the horizon the shadow would fall on the inner surface of the hemisphere; then, by means of lines drawn on the surface, the day was divided into twelve periods." By these dials the day was divided into "temporary hours" which varied with the length of the day. "It is likely that the equal hour did not come into use until the invention of the first clocks."

The invention of the clock. A clock consisting of wheels and weights was said to have been constructed at Magdeburg in 996 A. D. by Gerbert, at that time the Archbishop of Ravenna and later Pope under the title of Sylvester II. The poet Dante speaks of a clock which struck the hours. The most important improvement applied to the clock since its invention was the pendulum which has been accredited to Galileo but is also claimed by the Dutch astronomer, Huygens, and the Englishmen, Dr. Hooke and Harris. Another discovery made soon after this was that of the recoil escapement with a long pendulum and a heavy bar, which added to the accuracy of the timepieces. Among the later improvements have been the gravity escapement, the so called gridiron pendulum, and the mercurial pendulum, constructed to obviate the influence of heat and cold. By another invention the clock is wound by electricity, independent of any outside agency.

Mr. Russell continued with the evolution of the watch, which dates from the invention of the hairspring in 1658, and the chronometer which is used to determine the longitude of ships. He mentioned the complicated devices which protect the watch from the influence of changes in temperature and described the care with which a high grade watch is manufactured and regulated. He described the astronomical process of determining time by use of the transit instrument and the nautical tables. He concluded his dissertation by allusion to the dollar watch, "that latest production of modern production of modern industry and ingenuity" which has "brought joy to the American boy and has done more to teach him the value of time and the importance of promptness than all the admonitions he ever receives."

DR. WALTER BOWMAN

DIES FROM LOCK-JAW

Veterinary Doctor Met With Auto Accident and Wound Becomes Infected While Physician Was Looking After Horse That Had Lock-jaw.

Dr. Walter Bowman, a well known veterinary surgeon of Pleasant Hill, Ill., died Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from lock-jaw.

A week ago last Sunday Dr. Bowman met with an automobile accident while driving his Ford automobile. He was going along at a good rate of speed when the machine started to go into the ditch, because of a broken piece of machinery. In turning to avoid a telephone pole the car turned turtle. The physician was thrown out and sustained a cut immediately above his knee, some six or seven inches long. His wound seemed to be healing nicely when last Tuesday his neck began aching and then it was first learned that he was a sufferer from lock-jaw. Everything was done to save his life, but to no avail.

Dr. Bowman before he took his bed was treating a horse that had lock-jaw, for a farmer in that community. He wore the same trousers in the automobile that he used while attending to the horse and the physicians in attendance believe that the wound became infected from the disease of the horse.

Dr. Bowman was left an orphan when a child, and had been reared by an uncle. He was a graduate of a college in Kansas City. He was 27 years of age and leaves a wife and one son Barnett.
